LOOK OUT FOR FIRE!

To Theater Owners, Managers and Whom it May Concern.

This is to certify that I have equipped the Windsor theater in this city with the Lindgren stationary chemical fire engines. After examining all other systems of fire protection, and after repeated tests of the Lindgren stationary chemical fire engine, and upon the recommendation of the insurance underwriters I have no hesitation in pronouncing it the cheapest and most powerful, as well as perfect fire protection for theaters ever invented. In my opinion every theater and opera house in the United States as well as Europe, should be equipped with these chemical fire engines and thus save the loss of life and thousands of dollars in property.

Respectfully,
(Signed) H. J. GOLDY,
Owner Windsor Theater, Chicago, Ill.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 19 1889.

To Whom it May Concern:

This is to certify that I, George A. Burbank, witnessed the exhibition of the Lindgren chemical engine test to-day, and as I have witnessed a great many such chemical tests in New York City, Boston, Mass. and other large cities in the East, I hereby state that it was the quickest and most satisfactory test and was also pronounced so by two of our councilmen and all the citizens present, and I will also state that the time of applying the chemical was left entirely to me and I did not give the word until the fire was well started, for in other tests I have witnessed they have always put the chemical on the minute the fire was started and water would answer just as well, as there was nothing but the flame started and the wood not charred and I take great pleasure in recommending the Lindgren as far superior to any other Chemical engine on the market.

(Signed) GEORGE A. BURBANK,
Secretary Paid Fire Department.
Director of the Northwestern Fire Association.
Was last year Secretary of the Northwestern Fireman's Association.

Squire Accused of Being Pledged to Opposing Candidates.

THE REPORTS ARE DENIED BY HIM

Governor Moore Interviewed—Personal Feeling Between Allen and Squire—Sprague Gaining Votes.

OLYMPIA, Nov. 14.—The few remaining politicians in Olympia were thrown into a flutter of excitement to-day by the following letters, made public by the friends of Watson C. Squire. Judge Wingard has been here during the past week in the interest of Squire, but returned to Tacoma yesterday and to-day he writes Governor Squire as follows:

TACOMA, Nov. 13, 1889.

Honorable W. C. Squire—My Dear Governor: I came here an hour ago and am told by undoubted authority that Governor Moore stated here that you had pledged yourself, in the event of your election, to support Struve for United States judge. The report that you have pledged yourself beforehand to any one is very seriously damaging to you and I hope you may be able to contradict it at once. Sincerely yours,

S. P. WINGARD.

In answer to this letter, ex-Governor Squire addresses the following to Governor Moore:

Dear Governor Moore:—I wish to say to you and to have it understood by all, that I have not agreed to support any candidate for any office in the event of my election. I am absolutely free and unpledged. If you have supposed or stated that I have made any engagements such as referred to in Judge Wingard's letter, I will take it as a personal favor if you will correct such wrong impressions and statements. Yours sincerely,

WATSON C. SQUIRE.

Governor Moore answers:

Dear Governor:—All that I recall having said on the subject above referred to was that it was believed by certain parties here that you had promised to support Struve for the United States judgeship. It will afford me pleasure to report your denial, but I do not think that my remark, qualified as it was, should have left any distinct impression. Respectfully, MILES C. MOORE.

SPOKANE FALLS PRESS COMMENT.

In addition, the following is taken from the Spokane Falls Review comment: "S. C. Hyde, of Spokane, the ex-senatorial aspirant, is making a strong fight for the United States circuit judgeship against H. G. Struve, of Seattle. Influential friends are working for him, and he has a good chance of getting the place. When Hyde arrived here recently and said that it was impossible for him to beat Allen, a committee of the Spokane delegation went to Squire and offered to withdraw Hyde and give him the support of the delegation if he would use his influence to get the coveted position for Hyde. Squire now claims the support of the Spokane delegation, and it is believed that the deal has been made."

EX-GOVERNOR SQUIRE INTERVIEWED.

A reporter of THE OREGONIAN found ex-Governor Squire in his room taking a light lunch, and feeling much better. He has been confined to his room for several days. He said, in relation to the subject matter of the above letter, that he had never pledged himself to Struve, Hyde, or anybody else, for the judgeship or any other position. His aim had been to keep clear of all such entangling alliances. He was free to act as his sense of duty dictated, in the event of his election.

A TALK WITH GOVERNOR MOORE.

Governor Moore was also interviewed, and said that while he might have made the remark attributed to him, as it had been common talk for three or four days, he did not recall the circumstance. Mr. Allen had always kept strictly neutral as between opposing candidates. He has never disclosed even to his most intimate friends his choice as to the senator to be associated with him. The governor said that while he was a close friend of John B. Allen and desired his election, yet as a citizen of this state he felt an interest in the choice for the second senatorship, which, when occasion required, he would express, but it would not necessarily follow that this would coincide with Mr. Allen's preferences. The reporter started out to find John B. Allen, and found that he had left for the country, but would return to-morrow.

ALLEN AND SQUIRE.

The friends of Governor Squire on the street openly charge the Allen men with underhanded work to bring about the defeat of ex-Governor Squire. They say that the Allen men believe that a combination has been formed between Congressman Wilson and Squire, and that in the event of the latter's election the two will combine against Allen in the disposal of the Federal patronage in favor of Seattle and Spokane Falls, and that the Allen men are bent on defeating Squire for this reason. They cite the pretended fact that the Spokane delegation is solid for Squire. The fact probably is that the Spokane delegation is divided about evenly between Squire and Sprague. The situation is being vigorously discussed and has created considerable feeling between Allen and Squire, who have heretofore felt disposed to be friendly in the pursuit of common interests. A great many of the Allen men are, however, opposed to Squire and the principal opponents of Allen are in the Squire ranks. A combination has been talked of time and again between these leading candidates, but it has been found impossible to unite them.

GENERAL SPRAGUE GAINING.

General Sprague is in the field to stay, and the report is in circulation that Thompson has withdrawn in his favor. Mr. Thompson being absent, the rumor could not be substantiated at this hour. The fact seems to be that General Sprague is gaining every day, and the alarm felt by the Squire men is indicated by the publication of the above letters.

Prouts and Turner keep up their claims and report additions. There is no question but that an alliance has been entered upon between these two.

Senator Parkinson, of Whatcom county, is reported to have jumped the Squire track and to have enlisted under Thompson.

The indications are that the Sunday and Monday boats and trains will bring enormous crowds of people. The senatorial fight and inaugural ceremonies are a big double attraction which will draw the biggest crowd ever seen in Olympia.

THE INAUGURAL.

Grand Preparations Being Made at Olympia for the Event.

The joint inaugural committee met to-night, and appointed Mayor J. I. Gowey master of ceremonies, T. C. Van Epps grand marshal, and Rev. R. H. Lee chaplain. A committee was appointed to procure reduced rates on all the railroads and steamboat lines leading into the city. Invitations have been sent out to the four corners of the state, and it is expected that a great crowd will be in attendance. The committee on decorations has been appointed and the city will be put in gala attire in view of the great event.

The programme has not been entirely completed, but it is expected that the ceremonies will begin with a great parade, composed of local organizations and Seattle and Tacoma militia bands and fire companies. A stand is to be erected in the public park, from which the incoming and retiring governors will deliver their address, in which the new state officers will be sworn in. If the day be fair, it will be a great day for Olympia.

Information has been received indicating that the attendance will be enormous and will severely tax the already limited accommodations of the little city during the first of next week.

A Philanthropist's Will.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—The will of the late John Crerar was admitted to probate to-day. The will disposes of $3,500,000 of personal property and real estate valued at $50,000. To a number of cousins he leaves sums ranging from $10,000 to $20,000. A large number of bequests, ranging from $10,000 to $50,000 each, are given to charities, hospitals, historical, scientific and literary societies, etc., and a number of friends. He gives $100,000 to the Second Presbyterian church of Chicago, and the same amount to the trustees of that church, the income to be used for mission work, and $100,000 for a colossal statue of Abraham Lincoln is also left. The remainder of the estate, estimated to be worth $2,250,000, is set apart for the erection and maintenance of a public library in the city of Chicago, to be known as the "John Crerar library."

THE BASEBALL LEAGUE.

A Change in the Constitution That Will Prevent the Sale of Players.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—At to-day's meeting of the National Baseball League, the consideration of the constitution was resumed. Section 35, which reads, "Releases of players from contract, or the reservation and future contract with such players shall be regulated and governed by the national agreement of professional baseball clubs and league legislation made in pursuance thereof," was amended so as to read that "No player, without the consent of the club with which he is in contract or reservation, can negotiate with any other club for his services, but if said consent be given said player may negotiate with any club for his services and receive a money consideration therefor, which may be accepted by the releasing club." This action does away with the system of sales over which there has recently been such a cry.

Just at nightfall a rumor crept about among the baseball men in the corridors that Brooklyn and Cincinnati had broken the deadlock in the association contest by withdrawing and joining the league. When President Byrne, of Brooklyn, and President Stern, of Cincinnati, were asked if the report was true, they admitted it was. Shortly after 7 o'clock the league convention adjourned for the night. President Young gave out the news of the day's work. The subject of contention during almost the entire day's session was the proposition to increase visiting clubs' receipts from 25 to 60 per centum. Cleveland, Indianapolis, Pittsburg, Washington, Boston and Philadelphia opposed it. Finally the deadlock was settled by the adoption of 40 per cent. The next important change in the constitution was the complete abolition of the classification causes. This matter was treated upon in sections 30, 31 and 32, which were entirely wiped out. Section 9 of the constitution, which deals with the guarantee fund, was amended so as to make the bond of each club $25,000 instead of $5000, the same to be paid in annual installments of $1000 per year. Section 59 was so amended that the postponed game can be played at any time afterwards, but it was decided that two games should not be played in one day without the prior consent of two-third of all the league clubs.

After these alterations the convention received applications from the Brooklyn and Cincinnati clubs for membership. They were made out in the form required by the league constitution and were referred to the board of directors, who reported favorably upon them. The clubs were then elected members by acclamation. The convention then proceeded to the election of officers. Mr. Young was re-elected president; F. DeH. Robinson, of Cleveland; W. A. Nimick, of Pittsburg; W. F. Hewett, of Washington, and Charles Byrne, of Brooklyn, were elected directors. The members of the schedule board of arbitration and playing rules committees were also elected. It was resolved to hold the next annual meeting in New York, and the spring schedule meeting in Cleveland early in March.

THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—In the American Baseball Association to-day the balloting for president was continued during the greater part of the day. Von Der Ahe remained firm. At 4 o'clock Byrne, of Brooklyn, and Hern, of Cincinnati, announced the resignation of their clubs from the association. The delegates of the Kansas City and Baltimore clubs retired from the room at the same time. Von Der Ahe remained master of the situation. He accepted the resignations of the two clubs, but postponed the election of president of the association until to-morrow morning.

A LEAGUE FORMED AT STOCKTON.

SAN JOSE, Nov. 14.—A league base ball association was formed here to-night, and a board of directors elected, with T. W. Hobson, president. H. Harris, manager of the Stockton club, was elected manager. The grounds are to be fitted up at an expense of $8000 dollars, and the best professional players obtainable will be engaged.

THE AMERICAN TURF CONGRESS.

A Number of Changes Made in the Rules of the Association.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—At its session to-day the American turf congress took up the matter of amending the rules in regard to licensing and fining jockeys, and the disposal of these fines and funds for the trainers and jockeys. It was finally concluded that the rules were good enough, if strictly enforced, so it was decided to make no change in them. A number of other changes were made in the rules, among which were the following: Rule 4 was changed so that conditions referring to maidens shall mean maidens at the time of entry, unless otherwise specified. Rule 10 was changed to read: "Where no entrance fee is required, the declaration must be accompanied by 5 per cent of first money." Rule 21, relating to change of name, was changed so that no association shall receive an entry of, or allow a horse whose name had been changed anywhere to run on its course. Rule 48 was changed so that the owner or trainer must consent to the declaration of the jockey to carry legal overweight. Rule 5 now reads: "Every horse whose jockey has weighed out, and whose number has been put up, is a starter, and liable for the whole." If the horse is excused after he is weighed out, all book bets on the race are void and additional time before the race shall be granted by the judges. In auctions or Paris mutuels bets stand, but money bet on excused horses shall be refunded." Rule 92, section A, relating to stale penalties, and section C, referring to beaten and maiden allowances, were stricken out. Rule 120 was amended so jockeys, grooms and stable boys found on the betting grounds may be fined, as well as suspended or ruled off. Rule 140 was stricken out and a new rule adopted in its place reading: "If an ineligible horse be entered for the purpose of betting against him and he finishes first, or if he be entered for the purpose of having him disqualified by objections made after the race, all bets shall be declared off."

HIS OWN DETECTIVE.

A Man Who Found Inspector Byrnes's Men Too Slow.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Several weeks ago a gang of six men robbed Richard Goebler, formerly a barber at Portland, of $1500. After waiting for Inspector Byrnes's men to arrest the robbers, he became disgusted, and disguising himself as a longshoreman, started out as his own detective. Tuesday he brought one man into the police court. "Inspector Byrnes and his detectives are too slow to suit me," Goebler said. "They are no good. Superintendent Murray put a detective at my disposal for six weeks, but he was of no use to me. I dispensed with him and told him that I could catch thieves quicker without his assistance. I've got one of them, and I'll capture the whole gang. I ought to be locked up for being such a fool as to be swindled."

The man arrested is named Johnson, and is an old bunco man. He was personating a detective at the time of the robbery, and held Goebler while the others escaped with the money which they had snatched. When Goebler found that the New York detectives were not equal to the case, he dyed his red mustache black, bought an old pair of stogie boots, a checked jumper and a pair of overalls, and in this garb haunted the neighborhood of the place where he had first met the men until he saw Johnson after several weeks of waiting, and then, not being able to get an officer to arrest Johnson, he took him to prison himself.

FOGHORN OR BELL?

Experiments to Be Made to Determine Which Is the More Desirable.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The steamer Dispatch, Lieutenant Cowles commanding, will go down Chesapeake bay next week, to carry on a series of experiments as to the most desirable sound signals for sighting vessels in a fog or in heavy weather. The result of the experiments will be communicated to the international marine conference for their information. The question upon which there is a difference of opinion is which is the more desirable instrument, the foghorn or the bell? The conference committee on sound signals will probably witness the experiments.

A Special Train and a Switch Engine Collide.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 14.—A special train on the Illinois Central branch from Aberdeen, Miss., collided near Canton with a switch engine to-day, resulting in the death of Patrick [illegible], engineer of the switch engine, Tom [illegible], switchman, and an unknown negro. J. [illegible] Smith, J. Halsey, M. Thompson and several other persons were injured.

APPLICATIONS FOR CITIZENSHIP

The Liberals Object to Enfranchising Latter Day Saints.

ENDOWMENT HOUSE MYSTERIES

Evidence Given by Apostate Mormons as to the Character of the Oath Administered by the Church Dignitaries.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Nov. 14.—On February 10 next there will be a municipal election in this city. It will be the first real contest between the Mormons and the Gentiles for supremacy in city affairs that has ever been witnessed here. It is alleged that the Mormons have brought in colonizers, and among them many aliens. For several weeks past the courts have been daily employed making new citizens.

Last Friday a Mormon, named John Moore, made application for admission to citizenship. He swore that he was a Mormon and had been through the Endowment house. Objection was made to his admission on the ground that parties going through that house were compelled to take an oath which was incompatible with their becoming good, law-abiding citizens of the United States. The court granted a continuance until this morning, when the case was again taken up. The witnesses were principally apostates. The characteristic feature of all the testimony was the earnest and emphatic manner in which it was given. The men were all gray haired, and could have had no object in testifying to anything but the truth.

John Bond told that he went through the Endowment house in January, 1868, and took the obligation to obey the priesthood in everything temporal, spiritual, political, social and financial. Witness testified that the penalty for the violation of the oath and divulging the oaths was death by cutting the throat from ear to ear and cutting out the heart and tongue and disembowelment. In the Endowment house he solemnly swore in the presence of Almighty God that he would avenge the blood of Joseph Smith, the first president and prophet of the Mormon church, on the American nation, and that he would teach the same to his children and his children's children, and that he would henceforth and forever begin and carry out the hostilities against this nation, and keep the same a profound secret.

The next witness was Martin D. Waddell, who for a long time was superintendent of the church carpentering work. He is 67 years old and joined the church at Pittsburg, Pa., in 1847, and came to Utah shortly afterwards. Witness stated that he refused to take the oath to obey the priesthood in all things. As to whether he ever saw the penalty inflicted for violating the oath, witness swore that he saw a man who had apostatized, named Green, have his throat cut from ear to ear. He gave the full details of the crime.

Several others testified substantially in the same manner.

Quite a sensation was caused when Charles Gilmore was called to the stand. He asked to be excused from testifying on the ground that if he divulged the Endowment house oaths his wife would stand forfeit to the church, and while he cared naught for himself, he did for his wife and family. The court thought that the government was abundantly able to protect him, and he was required to testify. He related how he had been bathed and anointed in going through the Endowment house, and told how an old cavalry sabre was exhibited under a peculiar light so as to make a ghastly sight when the oath was taken. He described the oaths and penalties in detail.

The court then adjourned till to-morrow, when other witnesses will be examined.

DEMANDS REFUSED.

Complications in Zanzibar Growing Out of the Recent Revolt.

ZANZIBAR, Nov. 14.—The sultan of Zanzibar refuses to entertain the demands of the East Africa Company for indemnity to cover the losses suffered by the company because of the recent revolt. Demands have been made for the payment of the subsidy promised by the company for the first experimental year of its operations. The company resists the demand and thinks the second year should be allowed it, on the ground that it is impossible to estimate the loss it suffers.

THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

Sir Henry James Renews His Speech in Defense of the "Times."

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Upon the reassembling of the Parnell commission this morning, the cashier of the National bank testified as to the accounts kept in the bank by members of the league. Biggar objected to the testimony as irrelevant. Justice Hannen suggested that Biggar be present when the counsel for the Times went over the accounts to prevent passing upon private business. Sir Henry James then resumed his argument in support of the charges made by the Times.

SWINDLERS ON TRIAL.

Sixty-five Persons Charged With Deceiving Galician Peasants.

VIENNA, Nov. 14.—At Wodawice to-day the trial opened of the sixty five persons who are charged with swindling a large number of Galician peasants by inducing them to emigrate to America by false statements, and then obtaining a commission on their passage money. Among the persons implicated are the commissary of police, the comptroller of customs, a Hungarian judge and a number of customs guards.

THE MONTANA MUDDLE

The Courts Dispatching Business in Silver Bow County.

TWO ABLE BODIED SHERIFFS

Indications That McHatton, the Democratic Judge, Is Weakening—Further Developments Expected on Tuesday Next.

HELENA, Nov 14.—The election muddle in Silver Bow county is growing worse daily Tuesday Judge DeWolfe retired from office and McHatton democrat, who is elected by counting Tunnel precinct, took his chair He also recognized as sheriff of the county Sullivan the democratic candidate, whose case was analogous to his own Lloyd, who was the old sheriff and who was the republican candidate at the last election, claims that he was elected by the throwing out of Tunnel precinct, and refuses to surrender the keys of his office and of the jail to Sullivan To-day the habeas corpus cases of the two men under indictment for dynamiting were called up by Judge McHatton, but Lloyd refused to surrender the prisoners to Sullivan, who was directed to produce them in court. Hamilton, the contesting judge, opened another court and Lloyd brought the prisoners before him.

OUR SPECIAL REPORT

BUTTE Mont., Nov 14.—The Second judicial district of the glorious new state of Montana now lays claim to two courts. Judge Hamilton, this afternoon, convened the district court in the court house, in the room formerly used by the probate court A number of members of the legal fraternity were present. Sheriff Lloyd was present and opened court in the usual manner and with the customary formula Judge Hamilton then announced that the court was open for the transaction of any business that might necessarily come before it Mr McBride stated that he had a large amount of business that he desired to call up. Judge Hamilton then stated that being without a clerk and records, it might be well to withhold such business as could be postponed for the present Matters now were in a complicated position and he did not desire to have any further complications arise He would state, however, that the court of the Second judicial district would be open from this time on at all times, excepting on legal holidays, for the transaction of business, so that any one conceiving himself to be wronged might not be remediless at law With this preface, and after approving the bonds of Sheriff Lloyd and Public Administrator Pascoe, he announced that the court would take a recess till 1 o clock next Tuesday afternoon It is expected that Hamilton will to-morrow issue an order returnable on Tuesday for the court records

All this time Judge McHatton was holding court in the same building where a large crowd had gathered in anticipation of a collision by the authorities over the bringing of certain prisoners into court. The court inquired of Mr Sullivan, his sheriff, as to the whereabouts of the prisoners which he had ordered to be brought into court this morning at 10 o clock Mr Sullivan informed him that he had made a demand on Sheriff Lloyd for them and had been refused. After the court had met Mr Sullivan went out into the corridors and asked Jerry Griffiths, who was the jailer in charge, for the prisoners required by McHatton Jailer Griffiths told him he would not give the prisoners up to anyone but Sheriff Lloyd or on the order of the latter This decision being reported to the court, he passed the criminal cases and began to set motions on demurrer on the civil calendar There was no attempt made to try any cases, only a few members of the bar appearing in order to prevent judgment being taken against their clients by default.

The republicans regard McHatton's failure to cite the jailer for contempt as a sign of weakening and assert that the de facto judge so-called is afraid of the legal status of his own position On the other hand Judge McHatton sits in judgment and performs all the functions of the court except in matters wherein his and the shrievalty interests clash Next Tuesday is now looked to as a day for interesting developments.

CAUGHT BY THE DRIVING BELT.

The Terrible Death of a Mill Hand at Seattle.

SEATTLE Nov 14.—This morning at about 7 o'clock, just after the engine at Days Bros. mill one mile north of Snohomish Junction King county, had started up for the day's business S. A Reception Tendered the National Grange by That of California.

SACRAMENTO Nov 14—At the morning session of the National Grange it was decided to adjourn the session next Wednesday night. A telegram was received from the Farmers National Congress now in session in Montgomery Alabama extending congratulations In the afternoon the California Grange gave a reception to the National Grange The address of welcome was delivered by Master Davis of the State Grange and was responded to by Mortimer Whitehead lecturer of the National Grange In the absence of Governor Waterman his private secretary welcomed the guests to California in a lengthy speech Governor Luce, of Michigan Past master J C Steele, of California J C Draper overseer of the National Grange Secretary of State Hendricks and others, also delivered addresses

The grange has not yet began a careful consideration of questions vital to farmers or at least if it has the public has not been apprised of the same The Order of the Patrons of Husbandry is a secret organization and all but a few of its sessions are held with closed doors The organ of the California grange the Pacific Rural Press has a lady stenographer on hand who is a member of the order but all her reports of the proceedings are submitted to close inspection before being given out for publication A special committee on publication has been appointed with an old newspaper man as chairman He gives the press what he thinks proper, and of public interest, and moves about the city with a cloud of newspaper men close on his trail.

Some disappointment has been expressed that the number of Eastern delegates is not greater for at the time $10 000 was asked for from the last legislature it was said that two or three thousand visitors would likely come here. All told there are here now not more than 200. Of these thirty or forty have already looked about the state "There are more of the people here from outside the state than there were at the last session at Topeka outside of Kansas," said Overseer James Draper of Worcester, Massachusetts in speaking of the matter It is a long way to come but we made great efforts, and from New England alone we had two carloads. It was a great effort for the farmers to come so far but they wanted to see the Pacific coast.

Holzhay Confesses—Suit Against the St Paul Minneapolis & Manitoba—The Farmers Congress—The W C T U—Exposition Awards

DENVER Nov 14—The silver convention adjourned this afternoon The only business done at the meeting in the morning was the adoption of a series of resolutions Over some of them there was considerable wrangling but finally they were unanimously agreed upon In the afternoon a permanent organization was formed which will be known in the future as the Colorado Silver Association Hon H A W Tabor was made president and a vice president was chosen from each county in the state The preamble preceding the resolutions goes on to state that it is the opinion of the people that the demonetization of silver sixteen years ago by this country and foreign powers was the result of a conspiracy of the few against the many of the creditor class against the debtor class of the consumers against the producers of the idlers against the workers that since the time mentioned the period has been marked by constantly declining prices of staple commodities and of all the products of the farm and shop and also taking from the producers 30 per cent of their gross productions that this condition of things has now been definitely traced by the most careful and reliable observers of the world to the destruction of more than one-half of its standard money, thereby increasing the use of and demand for gold that efforts to remedy the ill timed action have been met with predictions of evil to the people and to the nation The declarations are in substance that the time has fully come when a restoration must be made and that this can only be done by restoring the system of metal money coinage in effect prior to 1878 which in the past has proved so beneficial that congress upon assembling pass an act for the remonetization of silver and for the free and unlimited coinage of the same that until such time a demand is made for the coinage of $4,000,000 per month in accordance with the Bland bill and the time has arrived when the United States can lead the way in the matter of free and unlimited coinage and that by so doing it will increase the prosperity of its people that the present stringency of the money market in connection with the low price for all the products of labor is convincing evidence that the money volume has not expanded with the increase of population that the people in general insist upon the enforcement of these just demands.

A NOVEL ADVERTISING SCHEME.

Arkell, of "Judge" Willing to Pay $100,000 a Year for the Backs of Postage Stamps

NEW YORK Nov 14—W J Arkell the proprietor of Judge has on foot rather a unique scheme for advertising He thinks that he could afford to pay the government of the United States $100 000 a year for the privilege of using the backs of postage stamps for advertising purposes, having satisfied himself as to the safety of the offer by interviews with some of the best advertisers in this and the old country The attorney for Arkell proceeded to Washington I consulted the postmaster general regarding the matter but he feared that the statutes would stand in the way and prevent any such sale He decided to examine into the matter and see what could be done however Arkell's idea is to print some one advertisement of a reputable house on a certain part of the stamp for a certain time or on all during a limited period and follow this up by printing another advertisement for another period The advertisements will be printed in delicate colored ink before the stamps are gummed and the result would be that every user of postage stamps would have the opportunity to read something on its back before he licked it Arkell will leave for Washington to-morrow and will make a formal offer of $100 000 a year for a four years contract

"BLACK BART" CONFESSES

The Robber Acknowledges the Shooting of Banker Fleischbein.

BESSEMER Mich Nov 14.—Reimund Holzhay (Black Bart) on trial for the murder of Banker Fleischbein of Belleville Ill and the robbery of the Gogebic stage, took the stand in his own defense to day, and made a confession He admitted that he robbed the Milwaukee & Northern train six months ago held up the Wisconsin Central train at Cadott, Wis a month later and waylaid the Gogebic stage and shot Banker Fleischbein Holzhay says he worked on the Oconto river for three years and then desiring a change went to Portland Or for a short time He then went to the Puget sound country, where he worked in a mill for five months. He also spent eight weeks in riding about the country, and was in the West altogether about eight months. While in Washington territory Holzhay said he was injured by his horse falling upon him and that he laid unconscious for some time afterward, and that, while his health previous to this accident had been good since then it had been bad He could not describe just how but it affected his whole system and particularly his head. Ordinarily he felt quite good but these bad spells would come over him and would last probably a day, sometimes more He said that during these spells he felt strange, but could not describe the feeling During such spells his actions and any incidents or occurrences taking place at such times were all blank afterwards He had several of these spells since his capture and probably had a dozen or more since he was injured. Holzhay said he remembered the day he was arrested and who arrested him He could not tell why he held up the stage Holzhay says he does not remember who was in the Gogebic stage, did not remember seeing either Fleischbein or the driver and failed to identify the watch and pocketbook said to have belonged to Fleischbein He claimed he had never seen Fleischbein's name on the pocketbook until his attention was directed to it by Howell The attorney illustrated the prisoner somewhat when he said Why did you carry two guns knowing you were liable to have one of these spells at any time and shoot somebody?

Holzhay seemed somewhat staggered by the directness of the question but replied I carried revolvers to protect myself from wild animals in the woods I did not like to leave them anywhere, as I might not find them again "

Holzhay was the only witness for the defense When he had concluded the defense rested

A Shipment of 900 Head of Oxen to Be Made From Illinois to Germany.

WASHINGTON Nov 14.—Commercial Agent Smith, at Mayence, Germany, reports the prevalence of good prices for meat in Germany caused by a firm of butchers in Mayence, who are trying the experiment of importing live oxen from the United States, and that arrangements have been made for the shipment from Illinois to Germany of 900 head of fat oxen within two months This is the first time live oxen from the United States have been imported into Germany The first lot of cattle arrived the week preceding the report, and the animals were sold at a price 10 to 15 per cent. less than German cattle notwithstanding the heavy cost of transportation and customs duty

AFTERMATH OF THE BLIZZARD

The Bodies of Four Sheep Herders Recovered—Many Men Missing

CLAYTON N M Nov 14.—Don Louis Baca a prominent Spanish sheep raiser, of Ute creek has just arrived at this place and gives a very sad account of the late blizzard in that region Five Mexican sheep herders perished in his neighborhood The bodies of four of them have been found The snow completely covers the ground from Clayton to the Canadian river a distance of 125 miles. Many Mexican families are in a destitute condition Owing to the heavy snow they are unable to move from their plazas in order to lay in a supply of food Mr Baca thinks other bodies will be recovered as soon as the snow melts, as several men are missing

THAT UNWHOLESOME MILK.

Commissioner Peter Esser Will Investigate the Case Referred to.

What He Has to Say of the Condition of the Dairies—The Law on the Subject.

The mention made in yesterday morning's paper of the fact that a certain milkman who furnishes the lacteal to East Portlanders is charged with delivering an unwholesome article brought Mr Peter Esser, the state food commissioner to the front Mr Esser called yesterday at THE OREGONIAN office to ascertain the name of the milkman who is alluded to by the correspondent. This information was furnished him

We have been making the rounds of all the milk ranches in this county said Commissioner Esser When I say we I mean Dr James Wythecombe and myself Dr Wythecombe is a veterinary surgeon, and he goes around with me We carefully inspect every milk ranch, as to the health of the cows, the quality of the milk, and the general condition of cleanliness of the premises Whenever the surgeon pronounces a cow sick or not in a normal healthy state, he simply points the animal out to me and I have it withdrawn and the milk is not allowed to be sold We have about completed our inspection of all the dairies about the city The case referred to by THE OREGONIAN will be inquired into at once and if the charges are true the offender will be dealt with as the law requires. "As a general thing" continued Mr Esser "we found all the milk ranches in good condition "

THE LAW ON THE SUBJECT

The law was passed at the last session of the state legislature (approved February 25 1889,) and was entitled "an act to prevent the production and sale of unwholesome foods and to regulate sales of adulterated foods, drinks and medicines," and from it the following extracts are made

SECTION 1 It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to sell or exchange, or expose for sale or exchange any unwholesome unclean, tainted or diseased food of any kind whatever

Sec 2. No person or persons shall sell or exchange, or expose for sale or exchange, or have in his or their possession for sale or exchange any adulterated food, drink or medicine unless the same shall be plainly marked so as to establish its true character and distinguish it from true articles of foods, drinks or medicines and in any public dining or eating room where adulterated foods or drinks are used, the bill of fare shall state the fact in the same sized type as is used in printing the body of said bill of fare or, if no bill of fare is used then and in that case printed notice thereof shall be posted in a conspicuous place in said dining or eating room so as to be easily seen by any one entering such room in which notice shall be stated in large letters the fact that adulterated foods and drinks are being used for foods, or for foods and drinks

Sec 3 When cows are kept by any person for dairy purposes either for butter or cheese or for the production of milk or cream for sale and are confined in stables such cows so confined shall be allowed at least 600 cubic feet of air, and such cows so stabled shall not be confined facing each other unless there shall be an air-tight partition between such cows at least four feet in height and all stables where such cows are kept shall be well ventilated and kept in a good healthy (healthful) condition

Sec 4. Whosoever violates any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than $ 5 nor more than $100 or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than thirty days nor more than six months.

Sec 5 If any person or persons shall have purchased foods drinks or medicines believing them to be pure and unadulterated, which shall prove by analysis to be adulterated, such person or persons shall not be deemed guilty under this act provided that such person or persons pay to the food commissioner the price of any analysis or analyses that said commissioner shall have paid to determine the quality of such foods, drinks or medicines as the case may be, and who shall after being informed of such adulteration at once mark the same as required by section 2 of this act.

Sec. 6 An article of food or drink or medicine is deemed to be adulterated within the meaning of this act when

1 Any substance or substances have been mixed with it so as to reduce or lower or injuriously affect its quality or strength

2. If any inferior or cheaper substance or substances have been substituted wholly or in part for it.

3. If any valuable constituent has been wholly or in part abstracted from it.

4. If it is an imitation of, or is sold under the name of another article

5 If it consists wholly or in part of a deceased decomposed, putrid or rotten animal or vegetable substance, whether manufactured or not or in the case of milk if it is the manufactured product of a diseased animal.

6 If it is colored, coated, polished or powdered whereby damage is concealed, or if it is made to appear better or of greater value than it really is provided however that salt and annetto or butter color in which annetto is the principal ingredient, shall not be considered an adulteration when used in dairy products

7 If it contains any added poisonous ingredient which may render it injurious to the health of a person consuming it

Sec 8. It shall be the duty of the chemist of the State Agricultural college to correctly analyze any and all substances the said commissioner may send him for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act

Sec 9 The said commissioner, and such experts and chemists or agents as he shall duly authorize for the purpose, shall have access to egress and ingress to all places of business, factories stores, farm buildings carriages, cars vessels and implements used in the manufacture production, or sale of any foods drinks or medicines, and they shall also have power and authority to open any package case or vessel containing such articles which may be manufactured, sold or exposed for sale

Sec 12 In all prosecutions under this act the fine or fines collected shall go to the common school fund in the county where the suit or action is instituted

Sec 13. In all prosecutions under the provisions of this act relating to the sale of diseased foods or that which is unclean, impure or unhealthy milk drawn from cows for fifteen days next before and five days next after parturition, or from cows fed on brewers grains, commonly called "brewers waste or malt" shall be deemed and declared unclean, impure and unwholesome milk provided further, that any one who shall use the box or boxes or cans used by any creamery or dairyman for the purpose of selling the butter of any other creamery or dairyman shall be subject to any or all fines provided for in this act.

EASTERN OREGON MINES.

Capital Is Seeking Investment Continually in That Part of the State.

BAKER CITY, Nov 10, 1889

The trip from Baker City to Cornucopia, even at this season of the year, is a pleasant one The recent rains have laid the dust, and the low hills are covered with short, green, nutritious grass, herds of sheep, cattle and horses are to be seen on the range, all fat and sleek, ready to brave the winter in the best of condition

The old mining camp of Sparta, thirty two miles east of Baker City, has taken on new life, the result of recent developments on quartz ledges adjacent to the town, some very rich strikes having recently been made on the Atlantic, owned by Ed Hardy and others of Baker City The mill on the Little Pittsburg is running on full time and is said to be turning out bullion [illegible] Sparta was one of the lively [illegible] camps early in the 70's, there being over 2000 inhabitants there in '72. As the richer gulches were stripped of their treasures, it finally dwindled down to a 'China camp," but with the advent of the quartz miner and with gold ledges of more than average richness, she is sure to become an important mining district soon There are four companies now located in this camp, with ample capital to develop and successfully work these ledges, and with the recent discoveries near the Dolly Varden, seven miles north, there is every reason to believe that Sparta will be the base of supplies for a large scope of mining country, and it is within the scope of possibilities at least to say that she may again rival the palmy days of '72 in population and business.

Eagle valley eight miles east of Sparta, is certainly the garden spot of the whole Northwest.

A high ridge of hills divide Pine and Eagle valleys, and although they are but ten miles distant from each other, the soil, climate, and topography are as dissimilar as if they were in different states. Pine valley is also productive but in a different line to Eagle. Timothy hay, wheat, oats, vegetables and hardy fruits are raised in great abundance in Pine valley, and the farmer finds ready sale for all his surplus products in Cornucopia the Pine creek mining camp From the valley Cornucopia is situated some seven miles up a canyon, and one is struck with the permanency of her business buildings.

To the efforts of the O. G. M Co the camp owes its prosperity to-day, and the company owe much of their success to the good management of their efficient and courteous superintendent, Captain J E Smith When Mr Smith took charge of their business the company had a fine and complete mill, but no mine to furnish it with ores. By his untiring efforts, however, they have converted the "Red Jacket" from a mere prospect into a mine At 450 feet from the surface they have the ledge cross cut by a tunnel 600 feet long, showing seven feet of ore, and good ore, too The question to be solved in mining and milling these ores is the maximum output at the minimum cost. To this end the company are erecting a "Bleichard" automatic cable tramway from the mine to the mill, a distance of one and one-half miles which will carry the ore at a cost of but 20 cents per ton, while the old process of freighting cost 80 cents. As the mill has a crushing capacity of fifty tons per day the amount thus saved is a large item in the reduction of expenses

There are indications that capital is seeking investment in Eastern Oregon mines, as several properties have changed hands lately, and there are mining experts visiting our various mining districts with a view to making purchases We are but little known to the mining world as yet, but the time will come soon when our output of gold bullion will surprise the most skeptical, and when Oregon will lead in the value and extent of her mines.

The East Eagle district which lies west of Cornucopia some fourteen miles is a very promising mining country There are also large deposits of marble there, said to be of the finest quality

We invite capital to investigate the varied resources of our country and shall be satisfied with their verdict whatever it may be.

Freights and Charters—The freight market during the past week has ruled quiet and lower, iron ... 28s 6d U K Havre or Antwerp. Quite a number of vessels have arrived within the past few days under prior charter for grain and many more are about due, so that exporters are well supplied with tonnage. Coal and lumber vessels are in fair demand and rates rule about steady.

Ship John McDonald ... general cargo to Liverpool. Ship Topgallant, coal, Seattle to San Francisco.

Wheat—The past week was generally a quiet one. There was nothing in foreign advices to encourage active operations and trading was confined to shippers purchasing to meet engagements on spot. Tonnage arrived quite freely, much the larger proportion of which was chartered ahead ... sold. Although offerings were not large, shippers were enabled to pick up odd lots here and there within the range of $1 30 to $1 ... At the close the market is steady with buyers at above quotations. Futures: The volume of business done on the call boards was ... but few large operators taking much interest in the course of the market. Compared with this day week prices are about a cent lower ... transactions were of such small proportions that little scope for profit was offered. ... hundred tons of buyer year sold ... $1 ... Buyer season sold at $1 40 ...

Wheat—Afternoon session—Not as firm ... a turn ... Buyer year closed $1 3... Buyer season $1 40½.

Barley—Prices have receded from quotations of last week. Buyers became impressed with the idea that values had been forced higher than the situation warranted and called a halt. The demand being checked and receipts coming in hard with much freedom supplies were put upon a weak market causing lower prices to rule. Best feed grades declined 2½@3¾c, but at the close a steadier feeling is noted and the market presents a better undertone. Choice feed quotable at $1 ... No 1 feed 76¼@80c; No 2 feed 73@77½c; common, 72½@...c; brewing, fair to good, 8...@90c; good to choice 90c@$1. Options ruled steady. Buyer year sold this forenoon at 82¾c; buyer season 9...c per cental.

Oats—A week ago to-day choice feed oats sold as high as $1 37½ per cental and the market had a strong and buoyant tone. Since then prices have receded fully ... cents per cental. The principal factor in the decline is large receipts from Oregon and Washington which amounted in the aggregate to some 70,000 centals. The extreme prices ruling last week evidently brought out more stuff than anticipated and the temper of the trade changed considerably. Choice feed is obtainable to-day at $1 1...@1 1..., and lower grades at a proportionate decline. At the close the feeling is somewhat improved and the demand is better. Values, however, show no material change. Quote: Choice feed, $1 80@1 3..., No 1 feed $1 2...@1 ..., No 2 feed, $1 20@1 ..., common grades $1 10@1 17½, milling held at $1 ...@1 ...

Potatoes—The market is again firmer, principally for choice stock which is scarce and in good request. Receipts for a week were over ... 000 sacks and largely comprised of inferior and undesirable lots which found slow sale at low prices. To-day choice Burbanks are held at $1 10@1 5...; poorer grades 8...c@$1 00. Peerless ...c@$1 ...; Early Rose 40@60c.

Bran—Demand has been far from active with ... stocks from which buyers could select ... range at $1... to $11 per ton.

Middlings—The market rules steady to firm ... supplies being limited and the demand very good. Quote all kinds $1...@... per ton.

Wool—Scourers are in the market for wools suitable to their purpose and trade for above account has been moderate. The eastward movement is light. Advices from the East are of dull and easy markets. Quote: Oregon valley 18@2...; Eastern Oregon 1...@1...c.

Hops—Very slow of sale, holders are getting nervous and anxious to realize but dislike the idea of letting go at present prices which range ... for good to choice.

Butter—Receipts of Eastern coming in freely and market easier and lower.

Eggs—Fresh ranch firm and scarce. Eastern in large supply and weak.

EXCELSIOR MANF'G CO. CHARTER OAK STOVE. 612-618 MAIN ST. ST. LOUIS, MO.

IDEAL BROILING.

Broiling can be done in the oven of the Charter Oak Range or Stove with the Wire Gauze Oven Door, more perfectly than over the live coals.

Lay the steak, chops, ham or fish on a wire broiler or meat rack, placing it in an ordinary bake pan to catch the drippings.

Allow it to remain in the oven with the door closed 15 or 20 minutes. No turning is required. At the end of this time it will be found nicely cooked ready to serve. THIS IS THE IDEAL WAY TO BROIL MEATS.

There is no taint of coal gas or smoke, and the meats are more tender and better in flavor than those broiled over the coals. The convenience of broiling in the oven will be appreciated by every house keeper, and adds another to the many reasons why the Charter Oak Range or Stove with the Wire Gauze Oven Door should be preferred to all others now in the market.

CATARRH HAY FEVER CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

A NEW TREATMENT.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result of this discovery is that a simple remedy has been discovered which permanently cures the most aggravated cases of these distressing diseases by a few simple applications made (two weeks apart) by the patient at home. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent free by A. H. DIXON & SON, 337 and 339 West King Street, Toronto, Canada.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, NOV. 15.

The Idaho Press Association will meet at Caldwell, December 9.

There is talk of digging a canal between the Columbia and Walla Walla rivers.

The building improvements in Eugene for the past year amount to nearly $200,000. The highest heretofore was $120,000 two years ago.

The Olympia Standard says that Judge B. F. Dennison has opened an office at Olympia, and will attend exclusively to cases in the supreme court of the state.

Seattle now has a three-story wood hotel, built in sixty days, that is now open to the public. It was put up by the citizens at a cost of $50,000, and it shows that the Queen City of the Sound has unbounded enterprise.

In one of the additions to Astoria, a block of land was sold the other day, for just six times what it was assessed for this year. And still Clatsop county has the enviable reputation of having the most honest assessor in the whole state.

The Clatsop county court has accepted the road built from Olney to the Columbia county line, and the contractors have the necessary papers wherewith to draw $9000 from the state treasury, the amount appropriated by the last legislature for this road.

The Moscow Star says: The University of Idaho that is being erected in this city will be the finest university in the Northwest. The foundation will be built of the celebrated Moscow granite, and the beautiful building will be constructed of brick and granite.

Fine building stone is now being shipped from Albany to The Dalles; another large shipment will go to San Francisco. The day has passed when Oregon sent to California or somewhere else for something she needed, and now she has material of all kinds for sale and lots of it.

Good coal in paying quantities has been discovered less than three miles southwest of Eugene. At a depth of twelve feet in the hillside one of the veins is 5 feet thick and from 15 to 20 feet wide. The expense of mining would be very small. "Keep your eye on Eugene," says the Register.

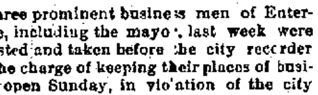
Three prominent business men of Enterprise, including the mayor, last week were arrested and taken before the city recorder on the charge of keeping their places of business open Sunday, in violation of the city ordinance. They all pleaded guilty, paid their fines and were turned loose.

A. D. Foote, of the irrigation survey party in Southern Idaho, says that storage of water up and around Henry's lake and down the stream toward Eagle Rock can be easily accomplished, and that 300,000 acres can be irrigated by the use of such a reservoir between American Falls and Eagle Rock.

The people of Waitsburg were thrown into a state of great excitement Tuesday afternoon by the advent of the "Hunt" road, the track being completed to the city about 4 o'clock. The last day's work of the track-layers would be considered good in any country, there having been 2½ miles of track laid in 6 hours and 29 minutes.

We find in one of our northern exchanges the following:

The



are going south.

R. B. Duncan, of Salem, was feasting yesterday on strawberries that grew and ripened, unprotected, in the open air, says the Statesman. His vines are still in blossom and he has a few berries in all the stages, some green and others are about matured. The ripe ones were delicious and are only another argument in favor of Oregon's climate. Just think of strawberries and Thanksgiving turkeys ripening together.

Preliminary surveys have been completed for the railroad from Eugene to Florence, a distance of fifty miles and right of way has been secured. Contracts will not be let until next season. A. G. Hovey, of Eugene, is president of the road and the general agent is now in New York for the purpose of negotiating with some of the overland companies for the building of the line from the bay to Eastern connections.

Parties from Snake river are interesting Eastern capitalists in the placer mining in that section of the country, and are endeavoring to form a company to secure the gold which has accumulated under the great Shoshone falls. It is claimed that millions of dollars' worth of gold has passed over the falls and has been collecting at the bottom of the rocks for ages, and if only some plan could be devised to rescue the same from its watery bed untold wealth would be obtained.

People may not like to write it "Wash." but they will have to overcome their dislike upon this point if they do not want their letters to go astray. The postmaster general may not be less deaf to euphony than many others but he recognizes the fact that "Wash." is the only abbreviation for the new state of Washington, that will not lead to endless confusion in the postal service and disappointment, annoyance and delay to the letter-writing public, and "Wash." it must be.

The Dry Gulch and Gold Mountain Mining Company, of Salem, has bought a tract of land between the railroad and the Santiam river at Gatesville, embracing about seventy-five acres, for the purpose of establishing smelting works for the Santiam mines. The price paid for the land was $4000. The company, it is announced, will erect smelting works and a concentrator next year. This company has a force of surveyors at work locating the route for a flume for the placer mines. The canal will be over twenty miles long.

The committee appointed for that purpose find that something like fifty standing committees will be required to do the work of the Washington legislature. If each committee has a clerk and each clerk is allowed $5 a day in imitation of the generosity of Oregon legislators the contingent expenses of the first legislature will make the startled taxpayers sigh for a return of the good old territorial days. However, citizens of Washington may as well learn now, as later in their history, that United States senators and other luxuries attendant upon statehood come high, and that having gotten them they must pay the price.

The Shoshone, Idaho Journal reports that at Bellevue the most important and interesting developments in the Wood river country are now being made. Messrs. Walker Brothers have for some years past been digging and delving at the base of Lookout mountain in search of large deposits of ore which geologists and miners agree must be there. Great preparations are being made to work the mine on a large scale. New houses for the accommodation of the working force, machinery, etc., are being built, and in a few days the new company will be fully organized for mining and shipping ore. About seventy tons of rich ore ranging through all shades of assay value of from $20 gold and $60 silver per ton up to $.10 silver and 20 to 60 per cent. lead is now on the dump.

THE "LOCAL ISSUE" IN IOWA.

National Issues Will Always Unite the Republican Party in That State.

Iowa State Register.

These are the days when the free traders several hundred miles away are very happy over the election in Iowa. They don't know a thing about it, and so they speak with the greatest confidence. Ex-President Cleveland, for instance, leans back in his chair and, in his ponderous fashion, declares the tariff did it. "It is evident," says he, "that the leaven of tariff reform has at last leavened the whole lump. The West, which has suffered the most from the unjust burden of tariff taxation has awakened. The state platforms of both Iowa and Ohio were abreast of the St. Louis platform on the subject of tariff reform. The people have considered and passed judgment."

Here in Iowa, where the real nature of the battle was fully understood, it seems very amusing to have these wise judges run in their hobby for recognition at this time. The tariff had no more to do with the democratic victory than with the movements of the planets. There were not fifty republicans in Iowa who voted the democratic ticket this year because of the tariff.

If there was any chance to carry Iowa for the democratic party on the national issue of the tariff, last year was the time to have done it. The democrats couldn't do it then, they couldn't do it now and they'll not be able to do it hereafter. Local issues, and with due respect to the memory of General Hancock, the tariff is not a local issue, accomplished the defeat of the republican party this year. On National issues the party is as strongly republican to-day as it was last year, when it gave almost 32,000 more votes for General Harrison than for Mr. Cleveland.

Thousands of republicans who voted the democratic ticket this year to express their disapproval of prohibition, or of the party's radical legislation of recent years, or of the general crankism which some men have attempted to fasten upon the party, are as strong republicans on all national issues as they have ever been. No one would protest against enrolling them as democrats more quickly or more earnestly than they. On local issues they have seen fit, much as we regret it, to vote against the republican party. They were with us last year, when all other conditions of which they complain existed in as irritating and annoying manner as now. Those who objected to prohibition, and were disgusted at the outrages that had been committed in its name, had as much provocation to vote against the republican party then, as they have now. But they voted with us, for no governor was to be elected, who would have general charge of the enforcement of the law, and no legislature which could strengthen or repeal the law. Those who objected to the wild spirit of hostility to railroads which had run a mad crusade against all corporate property, had been more recently irritated to the point of impatience and revolt than they have now. But they swung into line as usual, and concluded to vote the republican ticket for the sake of the national issues involved, and wait a year for a chance to express their sentiments on local issues.

These men are all with the party on national issues, and the party can blame no one but itself if they are not with it in the future.

Buyers will find some genuine bargains in Port Townsend property now by calling at our office. A. M. Elkins, of our firm, has just returned, after devoting a week looking the whole field over thoroughly for investments. We have bonded for a few days some excellent bargains in this rapidly growing city and suburbs and, we defy any and all others to give buyers as good bargains as we are prepared to do. We have choice property, choice locations and bottom prices. LONG & ELKINS, 24 Washington street. 12ntf*

A $120 HOME.

The Portland City Real Estate Association is selling 808 lots in a "pool" at $120 per lot—$10 down and $10 per month; no interest. Of these 808 lots, 600 of them are West Portland, 50x100 ft. lots (two miles from river front, with motor line under construction) and 8 of them are 80-acre "timber farms," worth now from $2000 to $4000 each. You get one of these 808 lots. Every one has an equal chance of getting 80 acres, as division will be by lot. If you have a mind to get a home or make some money, now is the time to buy. Prices advance positively in 10 days. Call at the office and secure a bond at once. Don't wait until prices go up and then get in a row with yourself for negligence. Address T. A. WOOD, room 1, I. O. O. F. Temple. 13otf*

The Short Items Picked Up by "Oregonian" Newsgatherers.

The Mullan Branch—New Railway Schedule—G Company G s Banquet—The Grain Elevator—Inspection Postponed

THE ORGAN RECITALS.—Those who have had the privilege of hearing Prof Ryder play on the new organ at Grace M. E. Church are loud in their praises and well they may be, for the instrument is a marvel of beauty and perfection in everything that goes to make up a first-class organ Prof Ryder is an organist of over 25 years experience and was for years the organist of the People's church of Boston. He is now organist of the Tremont Temple and the Star lecture course in Tremont Temple, and for the Joseph Cook lectures in the same. Prof. Ryder is well known as a composer of organ music, and will play at least one piece of his own composition, and the remaining of his own composition, besides selections from the great composers, besides selections from the best musical talent in the city will assist in these recitals. Large numbers of tickets are being sold, and those who intend going should buy early. The recitals will be on Monday and Tuesday evenings, Nov. 18th and 19th. This will be the only opportunity of hearing Prof Ryder as he leaves on Wednesday for Boston.

A NEW SCHEDULE ISSUED.—The Union Pacific Railway Company has issued a schedule for its Pacific division, comprising the lines of the O R & N Co. (Oregon Short Line and Utah Northern lessee) to take effect Sunday the 17th inst at 12 00 Pacific time. It is quite an arduous affair containing time-tables for the Columbia division from Portland to Wallula, the Montana division from Umatilla to Huntington the Eastern division from Pendleton to Riparia the Dayton branch Pomeroy branch Palouse division from Riparia to Spokane Falls the Pampa branch, Moscow branch Pleasant Valley branch Mullan line as compared from Tekoa to St Joe and the Heppner branch. A glance through the schedule gives the idea that the inland empire is pretty well supplied with railroads. The schedule contains over [illegible] pages of rules and special instructions to the employes of the company, which will furnish them with interesting reading for their leisure hours.

LABELING POOR FISH.—Several gentlemen interested in salmon canning and several who had quit the business were chatting yesterday concerning fish fishing fishermen and the trials and troubles of a cannery man's life. At length the subject of putting Columbia river salmon labels on cans of inferior fish was mentioned. One of the cannerymen told with [illegible] of another who had been [illegible] taking cases of fall salmon out of a warehouse at Astoria and carting them to another warehouse where he employed a lot of Chinamen to put Columbia river salmon labels on them. "It is time for [illegible]" said one of the cannerymen "it is time for decent men to get out of the salmon business." Said one of the retired cannerymen "I thought all the decent men had left the business long since." The subject was changed at once, but the work of labeling poor fish as Columbia river salmon is doubtless still going on.

"RAISING" POLAR BEARS.—A handsome polar bear skin robe displayed in a First street furrier's window was yesterday purchased by a New York gentleman for $150. At this rate it would pay the denizens of the polar regions to go into the business of raising polar bears. It would be a cool, [illegible] business for the bears would provide for themselves, and no stock of provisions would need to be laid in for winter as it is always winter there. The only trouble would be that the man who went into the bear business would be likely to be eaten if the seal crop was short. Taking everything into consideration it [illegible] more profitable to engage in raising blooded cattle or horses in Oregon than bears at the North Pole.

END OF THE MULLAN BRANCH.—Mr W S. [illegible] returned to this city yesterday from the "front" on the Mullan branch of the O R & N. The track is laid about five miles beyond the first crossing of the Northern Pacific narrow gauge, beyond the Old Mission, and track laying is progressing as fast as material can be pushed forward. When Mr James left Cœur d Alene it was snowing and blowing at a lively rate. The steamer [illegible] ran aground at the mouth of the river and was delayed twelve hours on account of the dense darkness and high winds. Mr J H [illegible], the energetic railroad contractor is at the front and will push the work to completion in a few weeks provided the weather does not become too rough.

SHIPYARD'S LATEST WORK.—The steamer Sehome, which has been built out of the old Mountain Queen, will likely be launched next Wednesday or Thursday. As she sits on the ways now she looks fine. Every bit of work about her house and decks is done, but [illegible] as well as the interior [illegible]. To-day a force of men were set to work scraping her bottom. When she strikes the water the new steamer will be about ready for her trial trip in fact, it will take but about a day to put her in readiness for making it. Captain Troup says he is very well pleased with her and believes she will be a thorough success.

THE PICTON'S CREW.—The crew of the lost vessel General Picton, who were brought to port by the Clan McPherson are pretty well provided for. All the sailors but one, and all the apprentices have been reshipped. The Annandale takes four, the Crown of England three the Cambrian Queen two, the Ben Nevis three and the Ben Voirlich one. The captain, two mates, carpenter and steward are yet ashore. The last four drew them [illegible] up in a line before a reporter yesterday, and the first mate said "Here we are, look at us. Can you get us a job? There's another, that [illegible] seaman with the policeman. He is trying to raise $6 to pay his fine."

THE WONDERLAND MUSEE.—A new permanent musee will open at 49 Morrison street, between Second and Third to-morrow (Saturday) at 1 P M. Positively no fakes will be produced in this house, and nothing but first-class attractions, novelties and freaks will be booked. Fred T Merrill is the opening manager and while it is under his management the people of Portland and elsewhere can be well assured that this will be an instructive, entertaining and perfectly moral resort for the ladies and children, as well as for gentlemen. Adults will be charged 15 cents and children 10 cents. Musee will be open every afternoon and evening.

GENUINE ATTRACTIONS.—Edison's latest improved talking phonograph, Lillian Weston Curtis, the only child in the world born without eyes. Professor George Madden the prince of legerdemain and prestidigitation "Sancho" the talking dog with the human brain the only educated dog in the world H G Kennedy, the champion unicycle rider of America, and many curios, rare animals and works of arts at the New Wonderland Musee, 49 Morrison street. Lecture and stage performance every hour, afternoon and evening. Admission, 15 cents, children, 10 cents, ladies and children are especially invited.

BEGINNING ITS WORK.—Those who have followed Mr. E C Michener in his energetic establishment and carrying forward for Peavey & Co the Pacific coast elevator system, will be interested in knowing that the first grain to be loaded from the big Portland elevator will be loaded this morning. The Clan MacPherson is to be the first ship to take its cargo from the new elevator. It will draw up alongside about 7 o'clock and take on its cargo of Oregon wheat for Europe.

PORT TOWNSEND REPRESENTED.—Mr Ben S. Miller, of Port Townsend, is at the Gilman house, and will remain several days. Persons who desire knowledge of the real estate situation at Port Townsend and have not the time to visit that city will be cheerfully supplied with information on application to Mr Miller. He is the agent, one of the most reliable and most extensive real estate brokers in Port Townsend, as all who have had dealings with him will cheerfully testify.

JAMES TURK'S NEW DEPARTURE.—Mr. James Turk has decided to retire from the sailor boarding house business, and has sold out everything connected with this business in which he has acquired considerable wealth and notoriety. He is building a three-story addition on to the Gar[illegible] house and will keep a mechanics' and workingmen's hotel. He will endeavor to take life easy hereafter and avoid all trouble and trouble some complications.

I W MOORE, the photographer has on exhibition in Woodward & Clark's window and at his gallery 4 Washington street some of the finest water-color portrait work that has ever been seen in Portland. The work is done by Mr Ewan one of Mr Moore's staff artists recently from the East. The work was hardly on exhibition before orders came pouring in for Christmas. It does not take Portland people long to appreciate good work when they see it.

NEW AMUSEMENT RESORT.—The Mechanics pavilion will, from Saturday next be conducted as a first-class amusement resort chiefly racing and bicycling, and will be open daily. The champion bicyclist, "Senator" Morgan will be assisted by James Gerth, the well known athletic trainer. It is proposed to have popular concerts Sunday afternoons and evenings, as no athletics will be given on that day.

G COMPANY'S BANQUET TO-NIGHT.—The reunion of the members of G company will take place to-night, and it is expected that all who are now or have been identified with its interests will take part in it. The members, ex veteran and active are requested to meet at the Armory to night at 8 o'clock and march in a body to Alisky's, where the banquet will take place.

THE BEAUTIFUL WHEATLAND to-day and secure a lot for $100, $5 down and $1 per week without interest. All lots high cleared level with splendid view and perfect drainage and near school. Free covered carriage. Near two motor lines. Call on George W McCoy No 10 Stark street, corner First, upstairs and save rent

REMAINS EN ROUTE.—The body of Samuel M DeForce, who died two years ago at Modesto Cal, passed through the city yesterday. The remains were disinterred and shipped to St Paul where they will be buried by Mr DeForce's son William J DeForce, who is the cashier of the American Ex[illegible] company at that place.

FOR TILLAMOOK.—The steamer Louise [illegible] will sail Saturday November 16 with an assorted cargo of merchandise, and will make [illegible]

POSTPONED INSPECTION.—Inspectors of Steam Vessels Edwards and McDermott got away last evening for Coos bay after being delayed a day or two by other business. The inspection at Astoria of the Canby and the Astoria [illegible] repairs being ordered to the Canby's hull and the Astoria's machinery

DEATH OF AN OLD PIONEER.—P M R[illegible]earson an old pioneer of Clackamas county died at his home last Tuesday. The deceased settled on a farm at the mouth of the Clackamas when Portland was little more than a village and he has resided there ever since. The funeral will take place to-day

"F" COMPANY OREGON CITY, will celebrate the opening of their new armory this evening with a grand ball. Those desiring to be present can take the steamer Latona foot of Taylor street this (Friday) evening at 6 30 o clock. An enjoyable time may be expected by all who attend

AT THE CYCLORAMA.—Chief Joseph wants to see the great painting of the battle of Gettysburg and this afternoon General Gibbon will take him to see it. General Gibbon met Joseph in battle in Montana and for the numbers engaged the loss was greater than at Gettysburg

ANOTHER PAPER.—Independence Polk county is to have another paper. It is to be called the Tribune and the first number will be issued about the 21st inst by the Tribune Publishing Company. The West Side is the only paper published at Independence now

MASKEY'S CANDIES.—By error in yesterday's edition we made S. L. Stone agent for the above whereas H Gerson & Co First and Ash streets are the sole agents in this city for Maskey's fine candies

BIGGEST BARGAIN ON RECORD.—To-morrow J Selling & Co will sell men's all wool red knitted shirts and drawers at $1 50 per suit. The goods are very heavy and come in all sizes.

WEARS A HANDSOME WATCH.—Mr Roswell B Lamson wears a very handsome gold watch and chain presented to him by his father Captain R. H Lamson on his 21st birthday

THE LADIES of Calvary Presbyterian church of this city will give a fair on December 3d 1889. The aid of the public is requested

MATTERS AT MOORESVILLE.

Everything Is in a Very Prosperous Condition at That Lively Little Burg.

Mr D J Moore returned yesterday from Mooresville and reports everything in a flourishing condition there. About 150 men are employed, and the company have lately completed a number of cottages, which are all occupied. The population has been increased by the birth of a girl, the first person born there. It takes two steers a week to supply the town with beef, and Mooresville is beginning to have aspirations to become a county seat. The flume three miles long from the mill to the river at Moore's landing, has been completed and a barge is being loaded with ties for the Astoria & South Coast railway, and another with lumber for the Pendleton market. Mr Moore and his partner, Mr Borthwick rode down the flume in a V-shaped box fitting the flume and made the trip in thirty minutes. Mr John Crouch is putting in a telephone between the mill and the wharf, which will be a great convenience

LILLIAN WESTON CURTIS.

The only living child born without eyes, will be placed on exhibition in this city for a few days at the New Wonderland Musee at 49 Morrison street, between Second and Third to-morrow, (Saturday) at 1 P M. This child is the most wonderful freak of nature ever placed on exhibition in the world. Scientific medical works produce no record of such a case. A life size photo will be sent to the medical scientists in France immediately for publication. Many people suppose this child is a disagreeable sight to look at but it is a healthy, rosy, dimpled cheek baby girl. To see it is to fall in love with it. All money received by this child will be used to educate it in the school for the blind. Admission will be 15 cents only and 10 cents for children

INCORPORATED.

F V Andrews N P Hall and Reginald W Thompson yesterday filed articles with the county clerk incorporating the Cornell Park Company with a capital stock of $50 000

The East Portland Plumbing Company filed articles of incorporation in the office of the county clerk to-day. The incorporators are P A Wagner T H Parrott, W H Beers and Joseph Paquet, with a capital of $1000

SOUTHERN PACIFIC OFFICIALS

A delegation of Southern Pacific officials, consisting of General Freight Agent C F Smurr ex General Freight Agent Richard Gray and Assistant General Superintendent R. H Pratt, are on their way to Portland from San Francisco. Manager Koehler will go up the valley to meet the special train, and accompany the party back to the city

BRIEF MENTION.

Cloaks and wraps—Do not miss the closing sale of Springer Brother's wraps at McAllen & McDonnell's Third and Morrison. No sensational advertising necessary to sell them

Do not buy a cheap piano when you can get the very best for the same money. H Sinsheimer, the well known music dealer at 214 First street, has just received an immense shipment of the famous Steinway & Son's and Chickering & Son's pianos—the best instruments in the world. He also carries the only high grade organ—the Burdett. He is the only Portland music dealer who buys direct from the factories for cash only.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, NOV 15

A FEW OBVIOUS FACTS.

Notwithstanding all that has been said to the contrary, the recent elections afford no indication whatever that on the tariff issue the republicans are weaker than in November, 1888 The recent elections turned chiefly on local questions, the party and personal antagonisms. In Virginia intense hatred of Mahone by a faction of the republicans explains his crushing defeat A congressional election in Virginia would show republican strength far in excess of that exhibited by Mahone. The result in Ohio was not remarkable Ohio has gone democratic every sixth year, and for more than twenty years the representation of this republican state in the upper branch of congress has been equally divided between the parties. That Foraker's defeat was due something to personal as well as public grounds is evident from the fact that he is the only man defeated on his ticket The Owens Sunday closing law cost Foraker 5000 German votes in Cincinnati the democrats claiming that the law was enforced by one of Foraker's boards the police commission. Foraker is not a favorite with the republican administration and, altogether, his candidacy was unfortunate There is however, absolutely nothing in the situation in Ohio that justifies the belief that on national issues Ohio would to day show less republican strength than she did in 1888 The situation to day is but a repetition of what occurred in 1873 after the great republican presidential victory of 1872, as the following figures show In 1872 Grant carried Ohio by 37 531, but in 1873 the democrats elected Allen governor by 817 majority, the republicans electing the remainder of their state ticket as they do to day In 1874 the Ohio democrats elected their state ticket by 17 000 majority, and thirteen out of twenty congressmen but in 1875 the republicans elected Hayes governor over Allen and carried the state in 1876 So Massachusetts gave Grant over 70,000 majority in 1872, but in 1874 elected Gaston democrat governor Next year, however, Rice, republican, beat Gaston Massachusetts elected Butler governor over Bishop in 1883, but Butler was beaten by Robinson, republican, the next year The reduced republican majority in Massachusetts is due largely to the personal unpopularity of Brackett's political managers. William W Crapo, a far abler and more distinguished republican than Brackett, has been twice tempted to compete for the governorship and then slaughtered in the house of his friends, and while Crapo was true to his party he could not control the actions of his real friends who voted against Brackett, and came so near defeating him that had the democrats thrown their usual vote in Boston, they would have elected their governor The republican vote in Boston showed a decrease of 4531 from their vote for 1888 but the democratic Boston vote showed a decrease of 8365 from their vote of 1888. The reduction of the republican majority from nearly 30 000 for Brackett for lieutenant governor in 1888 to less than 6000 for governor in 1889 indicates a local revolt against a candidate crowded upon the party by a clique of political manipulators, to the exclusion of a far abler and better man It is nothing but a repetition of the mood of 1874 and 1883, and can not be quoted fairly as proof that the republican party in Massachusetts has experienced any change of faith on national issues It was a personal and local fight on local issues within the party camp

In Iowa, where the republican ticket is elected, save the governor, there is the same absence of any indication that on national issues the party is any weaker than in November last. The quarrel there was over prohibition and the anti-railroad craze The democratic candidate for governor Horace Boies, left the republican party some years ago because of its loyalty to prohibition and his canvass was devoted chiefly to a criticism of the state's impractical ineffectual and injurious attitude on the liquor question. Under the system of prohibition in Iowa, the grossest outrages upon personal liberty have been committed The morning of election the Des Moines Leader published the fact that a few days before the wife of a respectable and hard working German citizen, one Muller gave birth to a child, and on Saturday morning the infant died On Saturday evening six men calling themselves constables thrust themselves into the house and demanded that they be allowed to search the premises on the ground that they suspected Muller had liquor for sale The poor man met them at the door told them of the condition of his family assured them that there was no liquor in the house and begged them not to come into the presence of his sick wife But his entreaties were of no avail, and they insisted upon forcing themselves into the room where the dead child lay and into another room where the mother was confined to her bed The net result of their raid was the discovery in the wife's room of an empty bottle which had contained beer, which the husband had procured for her It is easy to understand that a party cannot long support a law under which such outrages can be committed without inviting severe local rebuke Furthermore, the republican candidate for governor was cut by the grangers, who charged that, according to his legislative record he had at all times favored the railroad corporations The governor, the new railroad commission and a majority of the legislature are elected on this issue and the legislative record of the republican candidate caused his defeat It is clear, therefore, that in Iowa the party losses are due as in Ohio and Massachusetts to party quarrels over local issues and the personal unpopularity of the candidate On the tariff or any other national issue, Iowa is unquestionably as sound a republican state as she was in November, 1888

The assertion of Ex President Cleveland that the recent elections vindicate his wisdom, that "the leaven of tariff reform has at last leavened the whole lump," is absurd The New York Sun (dem) scouts this assumption and Campbell the newly elected democratic governor of Ohio said when asked what he thought of a ticket of Hill and Campbell in 1892 " Three years ahead prophesies and [illegible] combines hardly ever come to a head They don't generally come out well The year 1892 is the time when these things will develop

A SIGNIFICANT BOLT

The bolt of the Iowa members of the National W C T U is significant in showing that the feminine mind cannot always be "cabined cribbed and confined" in the narrow grooves dedicated to prayer and impracticability It is gratifying to note that there are women in that organization who see the futility of the attempt to create a political party out of sentiment and maintain it upon prayer Prohibition pap may suffice to nourish impractical spirits who live in an ideal world and have a lofty contempt for things as they exist, but the political body requires nourishment of a more independent nature and is fain to make the best of the material in hand The worthy highly moral and intensely devotional women who are followers and to a great extent worshipers of Miss Willard are entitled to the consideration that is the just due of sincere, if misdirected, effort When however, they essay to enter the domain of politics they become mischievous in proportion to the number of votes that they are able to muster, and ridiculous in proportion to the power that they attempt to wield in politics without votes. There are women as well as men who see this, and in evincing a determination not to "mortgage their political influence" by third party sophistry such women command the respect of practical men.

It is gratifying to note that the women representing the W C T U element in Iowa are able to read intelligently the lesson of the multiplied defeats which constitutional prohibition has suffered within the year In recognizing the fact that the intelligent conviction of the people in favor of prohibition is necessary to insure its adoption and maintenance, and that education must precede political action upon a moral and social question, these women accredit their sex with a sagacity which the action of sentimentalists among themselves, aided by mock martyrs among men, has gravely disputed

THE SITUATION IN MONTANA

The Montana legislature will meet on the 23d instant under very peculiar circumstances and its proceedings will have to be conducted with great discretion and good temper to avoid violent and revolutionary consequences Neither party will have a majority in the lower house without the votes of the members from Silver Bow county Two delegations will present themselves from this county one holding certificates from the county clerk and the other having certificates from the territorial secretary of state If the former is admitted the democrats will have a majority, if the latter the republicans The conflicting certificates came into existence in this way The county canvassing board threw out the fraudulent votes from the Tunnel precinct and made their return to the territorial canvassing board without them This return showed certain republicans entitled to certificates which were issued to them by the secretary of state After this was done Justice DeWolfe compelled the county canvassing board to count the Tunnel precinct votes and make a return including them This was done too late to reach the Territorial canvassing board which had finished its work and adjourned sine die but it showed certain democrats elected from precincts given to the republicans by the territorial canvass and the county clerk of Silver Bow county took it upon himself to issue certificates to them There is color of legality for this action because it fulfilled the mandate of Justice DeWolfe but it can not invalidate the act of the territorial canvassing board which received no judicial mandate nor that of the secretary of state who simply complied with the form of the law by issuing certificates to the persons shown to be elected by the territorial canvass The result is that the two delegations from Silver Bow county will each have a certain prima facie claim That based upon the territorial certificates is of course the best but it is doubtful if the democrats will permit the members holding these certificates to take their seats without a protest and struggle Of course the house is the judge of the qualifications of its own members, but the unsettled question here is, what is the house? The disputed delegations hold the balance of power With one of them the house is republican with the other, democratic To admit either would be to decide the whole question in advance of a hearing or weighing of the claims on either side Under these circumstances the equitable thing would seem to be to exclude both of them until the house is organized and take them up as contested cases as the first business of the legislature This can be done if both parties consent to it so far as to maintain a quorum for the transaction of business If either party refuses the responsibility for any trouble that may follow will rest heavily upon it

THE FETICH OF ONE IDEA

The Iowa State Register, published at Des Moines is the most important newspaper in the state of Iowa As a republican journal it has been forced to accept prohibition as an article of party faith It ought indeed to have been more independent and resisted the prohibition folly from the beginning even at the risk of temporary defeat It is better to be defeated on the right ground than to win on the wrong one and success on the wrong one never can be lasting Moreover from defeat suffered from taking a rational and right position recovery is easy but from defeat resulting from an irrational and wrong position recovery is extremely difficult and often impossible

The Iowa State Register is too intelligent a newspaper not to have anticipated from the first this final result but probably it felt that it had not power to turn its party from the folly and blindness of its course and therefore went with it But now it begins to talk with sense, judgment and courage Defeat which has overtaken its party through the folly of prohibition gives it opportunity to speak to those who hitherto would not hear "The republican defeat in Iowa last Tuesday " it says "will cause a good many men to stop and take their bearings " The republican party it adds, "has been loaded down too much by small men and small ideas " and the result is "a rebuke to the general spirit that has tried to run a broad gauge party on a narrow gauge track "

"The Fetich of One Idea" is the Iowa journal's theme and it proceeds to say

No man who has carefully watched the course of the party for the last few years can deny that it has been seriously embarrassed by the tendency to run to hobbies and single ideas to the exclusion of a broad and liberal consideration of all interests Just as soon as a political party begins to make one idea its test of party fealty, it ceases to become a party and becomes an association of hobby riders There has been too much disposition in Iowa to hold the party down to the measure of one idea and drive all men through that groove or throw them overboard It has been very evident in the matter of prohibition Too often men have been selected for office because of their special activity as prohibitionists and have been barred from office because they did not believe in prohibition There have been counties in which a man couldn't be nominated for the legislature and scarcely for any county office who was not a prohibitionist both by theory and by practice This kind of proscription had two effects It drove some good men out of the party and fastened some mighty mean men upon it The setting up of that one issue as a test of party fealty or a qualification for office has been disastrous both to the party and to the public service Not every prohibitionist is qualified to make a good public official nor is every anti prohibitionist The mistake is in fixing the one idea as the paramount consideration in either case The result has been that the party, instead of selecting its strongest brain and most capable men has too often taken weak narrow minded and unworthy men whose chief bid for public favor and confidence was that they were all right on prohibition A party can't keep up that policy of political selection and proscription and forever command public confidence and support

This is well stated What follows is even more to the direct purpose viz The excessive radicalism that has been setting up party tests in the last few years has bred intolerance in other ways Every crank has brought his wares to the republican party and it must be admitted with regret, has too often found a market That is one of the dangers to which the party in power is always subjected The minority is never troubled in that way. But the dominant party flushed with the supreme confidence of uninterrupted success, is liable to be too careless of its own safety and too indifferent to the limits of public patience and respect. The residuum of common sense with which the plain, everyday people are abundantly blessed, will sooner or later strike a balance between what ought and what ought not to be and hold the responsible party to a strict account."

Under discipline of defeat, followed by advice like this, the republican party in Iowa ought to right itself From the example of Iowa the republican party in Oregon and the whole people of the state ought to be able to see what they escaped when prohibition was defeated here by the efforts of those who had judgment to know that it was a method of moral and political quackery which would produce contention and disorder, and would at last surely fail

The vast accumulation of business that goes over from one congress to another without action makes it plain that either this body should be constantly in session or that more expeditious means for the disposal of business should be adopted If the fiftieth congress had acted upon forty bills a day for each day that it held a session during its existence of two years it could not have disposed of all the matters brought before it It follows that much of this business was worthless and should never have been brought before the law making body or that national or private interests as the case might have been suffered from this postponement Since there seems to be no [illegible] condition and individual citizens are not making [illegible] more frequent complaint than usual it is fair to presume that much of the business thus set aside was of a trivial character and should never have been introduced Fortunately or unfortunately a strong minority rule, or may rule the house of representatives A change in the rules that permit this will not be easily effected and though political gossip has for weeks been busy with the subject asserting that the republicans of the house are determined upon a change in favor of majority rule such a change is by no means foremost on the list of probabilities

Mr Joseph the delegate from New Mexico, will urge upon the attention of the next congress another bill for the admission of that territory as a state It is reported in relation to this that there is a movement on foot for the admission of all the remaining territories by an omnibus bill The movement in congress will probably be confined to the delegates from the territories and to Mr Springer, who can't be happy unless he is making a noise about something, and who is in a way committed to the speedy admission of all the territories There is a wide distinction in the social condition and fitness for statehood of the group of territories admitted last winter, and of those now applying for admission Congress went a long way in the creation of new states last winter, farther than might naturally have been expected in view of its last previous experience But the states created last winter are in very different case from Nevada and Colorado The remaining territories, on the other hand are all very similar to those black sheep in the family of states Congress is likely to hesitate before taking any more of them in Mr Josephus Mr Springer and the rest will probably wait their time

The democrats of Ohio are going to elect Brice to the senate to succeed Payne Payne is very old and doesn't want a reelection or he could get it easily The Standard Oil Company would look out for that But since Payne is to quit Brice is to come in Brice is now the national chairman of the democratic national committee and the reasons he will be able to adduce for his election are such as the democrats of the Ohio legislature cannot withstand The democratic paper at Pendleton says however "The election of Brice in Ohio would be a wanton abandonment of all the advantage that has been gained by the late victory And with Brice in the senate Whitney a candidate for the presidency, and the Standard oil monopoly running the democratic party it would deserve an utter rout in 1892 and we would not only expect but hope that such a result would follow " Nevertheless Brice will be elected to the senate and should Whitney be nominated for the presidency in 1892 the democratic organ at Pendleton will be found among his ardent supporters and will tell its readers that the election of Whitney is the hope of saving the country from the oppressions of the monopolists

The recent death of Louis king of Portugal, has drawn attention to that quiet, stagnant little kingdom which, though enjoying profound peace is far from a condition of prosperity Every year for more than a generation the expenditures of the government have exceeded the receipts in the royal treasury and though possessed of a warm climate and fruitful soil the kingdom imports grain to feed its inhabitants Listless unambitious, the people live lives of indolence and freedom from care, scarcely surpassed in this regard by the North American Indians International complications do not vex this drowsy happy go lucky little kingdom and she has not for years had a more exciting national event than that which has recorded the marriage birth or death of a king Her very insignificance protects her from the possibilities of war that constantly darken the horizon of other countries of continental Europe and this is her compensation for the loss of her ancient prowess In common parlance, the country amounts to nothing and the nations are willing to let it enjoy peace despise plenty and live unchallenged a national life of hand to mouth

---

It will certainly not be the fault of the prohibitionists if the [illegible] Vice President Morton's new hotel in Washington the Shoreham is not well patronized Miss Frances Willard John P St John and a score of intermediate light have been busy for days advertising the location of the new accommodation to those who visit the capital city on business or pleasure It is probable that Mr Morton is restrained by the consideration due his high position from sending a card of thanks to these good people for the active interest which they have displayed in giving the lessee of the Shoreham a lift into public notice Truly prohibition may be said to move in a mysterious way its wonders to perform

---

The death of Mr W H Gray which is noted elsewhere occurred in this city yesterday morning removes from the scene of his early endeavor a venerable pioneer in the city and in Oregon The quiet ending of his long and eventful life at the advanced age of four score came in the simple order of nature which is unchallenged by reason and unattended by vain regrets His life was one of usefulness his death attests the fact that his work is done What that work was the records of our pioneer history faithfully tell and it but remains to the chronicles to revert to the fact that his career was an honorable and useful one

We think William H Gray, whose death was announced yesterday, had for several years been Oregon's earliest surviving pioneer of American birth He arrived here in the autumn of 1836 about fifty three years ago At the time of his arrival there were probably about twenty men in Oregon who, by birth, were citizens of the United States All these have long since passed away The earliest pioneers now surviving, whose names we recall, are Rev Cushing Eells, of Whitman county, Wash , and Mrs Walker, widow of the late Rev E Walker, of Forest Grove, Or. These came in 1838. Probably the next are Rev J L Parrish, of Salem, and Amos Cook, of Lafayette, who arrived in May, 1839—Mr Parrish by sea and Mr Cook overland. Mr Parrish came for missionary service, and Mr Cook was one of the Peoria party —a body of some fifteen young men who, having heard Dr Whitman deliver an address on Oregon at Peoria, Ill , started for Oregon in 1838, wintered on Green river and came through the following spring Of his party, Mr. Cook is the last survivor.

A coaling station in the Hawaiian islands is a very different and a much more desirable thing than a protectorate If the United States mean to have a navy, as it apparently does, it needs coaling stations in various parts of the world, especially in those parts not occupied by civilized and commercial nations The Pacific ocean is becoming more and more a great highway of commerce In case the necessity for protection should arise, it would become a notable cruising ground for naval vessels The United States has not complete possession of a foot of ground or coastline in the South Pacific, though it has the treaty right to acquire coaling stations in the Samoan and in the Sandwich islands It would be the part of international and commercial prudence to avail itself of these rights without any unnecessary delay The United States has no share in the colonizing fever which has seized upon the nations of Europe but it should see to it that Europe does not so crowd it out of the South Pacific as to cripple the commerce and navy it hopes some time to have

A Marion county woman who is also a great grandmother is on record as having dressed and put up two hogs without assistance the other day No mention is made of the killing of the animals and in the absence of testimony upon this point we will suppose that she called on her "great grand man" to do this bloody deed This story should be matched at once by the statement that one great grandmother in Yamhill has split a [illegible] of oaks in [illegible] twenty four hours The idea of permitting a woman, and a great grandmother at that to trespass unrebuked upon man's domain in this way should not be tolerated for a moment

Newspapers will, it is said, be thrown upon their own resources for the text of the coming president's message, as it will not be given out prior to delivery as is usual but will be sent to congress in typewriter form The resources of the modern newspaper for obtaining news may be relied upon to meet the emergency and put the message in type in time to meet the eyes of the world on the morning following its presentation

Lieutenant Carr Returns From the Flagship Omaha—He Visited Miss Horton at the Yokohama Mission

Lieutenant Clarence A Carr is in Seattle visiting his uncle Mr O J Carr ex postmaster of this city, and his cousin, Mr H Willis Carr, of E H Griffith & Co. Lieutenant Carr has for the past four years been stationed with the Asiatic squadron, and is just returning home from the flagship Omaha on which he was assistant engineer He will go into service in New York.

He tells the Seattle Press that the most exciting incident he experienced while on the Asiatic coast was when his ship was ordered from Shanghai to Ching Kiang, China, on account of the riots there in the middle of February, 1889. The riot grew out of trouble between a Sikh from India serving as a policeman for the English residents and a Coolie The Coolies began burning the houses of all the foreigners and the Omaha was ordered to put in an appearance to protect the interests of the American residents there

While in Yokohama, Japan on June 1 of this year, he visited the Methodist Protestant mission school there and called upon Miss Nettie Horton, daughter of Mr Dexter Horton the retired banker of Seattle. Miss Horton is serving as a missionary in the Yokohama school Mr Carr says she seemed cheerful and thoroughly interested in her work She would not for a moment confess to being homesick though Mr Carr says he thinks she would like to see Seattle again just for a little while

MARION COUNTY PUBLICISTS.

Mr Davenport Replies to His Estimable Neighbor, Mr Geer

SILVERTON, Nov 9

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In a recent number of THE OREGONIAN is found a letter from Mr T T Geer of Marion county, essaying a criticism on the speeches of myself and Professor [illegible] at the union meeting held at Salem on the 14th of last month, but inasmuch as said speeches were not published as spoken and Mr Geer was not present at the meeting, his criticism was wide of the true mark

Replying to speeches from hearsay is at best a risky business, especially when we consider the difficulty always experienced by the most faithful reporters in condensing a speech and preserving its true character and the equally difficult task in these days of newspaper competition, of resisting the temptation to report something exciting. The truth of what I said is like this I was speaking of Lincoln's celebrated saying of "a government of the people by the people and for the people" as a condition to which we have not arrived as a [illegible] ideal towards which we should strive that under existing circumstances of class legislation and party machinery, so far as my personal experience went it would be [illegible] correct to say that ours (state) is a government of knaves, by knaves and for knaves Of course I [illegible] that the north [illegible] swamp land ring at the conniving of officials, the head of the state government But I never once thought of Mr Geer, who includes himself in the much abused category of knaves [illegible] I must say that I am [illegible] proceeding upon the [illegible] that where little is known little is [illegible] I am not expecting Mr Geer to reform the world, or any part of it I have also no hope of his being or becoming a reformer A reformer [illegible] is sufficient [illegible] outside pressure [illegible] by inheritance or contact [illegible] of Oregon [illegible] consorting upon the [illegible] its members [illegible] dead man [illegible] speeches to which [illegible] "Yes I know him well but he [illegible] good quality that some of the [illegible] will stay bought" [illegible] virtue [illegible] staying corrupted

[illegible] Mr Geer's [illegible] of anti prohibition [illegible] received from him the following reply [illegible] praised myself for having [illegible] for the prohibition [illegible] Now all will admit that reform is made of sterner stuff

Mr Geer's letters are generally seasoned with personalities, but why should he ever write a [illegible] of any one's changing [illegible] Is it that he aspires to the championship [illegible] changeling? Look for a moment at his record As a boy he imbibed the spirit of the Declaration of Independence and was an early woman suffragist, only to weakly and ignominiously surrender to popular prejudice the first time he had an opportunity to vote his principles As a youth he saw the ravages of rum in the community where he lived and wisely concluded that a government of the people, by the people and for the people should not be in league with the cursed traffic and he therefore advocated prohibition until, to surrender his [illegible] after the first battle [illegible] of the Cascade mountains he became a granger and with the [illegible] at the last session of the legislature his brethren saw him going down and rushed to the rescue taking turns as one of their [illegible] the humiliating task of holding him up in blocks of five

And this while Mr G has acted with the republican party and likely he never scratched a ticket Whatever his principles may be or may have been he seems to have one principle which dominates all others that of obeying the wishes of the defacto party leaders Such a man cannot be a truthful representative of the people [illegible] he will surrender his trust at the dictation [illegible] I say this in no spirit of [illegible] Mr G [illegible] is a pleasant humorous and [illegible] intelligent gentleman He is an exemplification of thousands of American voters who [illegible] to abrogate their principles and convictions in order to train harmoniously with their party bosses Indeed, it is [illegible] of organization that a [illegible] to party is before and higher than allegiance to the state As a consequence the rank and file of both political parties, accustomed to obediently following their leaders are frequently led [illegible] to the [illegible]

It is well known that thousands of free trade republicans voted for Harrison and many protection democrats voted for Cleveland, a condition of [illegible] which could only arise from the habit of blind subordination [illegible] political parties are not only convenient but necessary, for the purpose of gathering [illegible] but when the party discipline [illegible] is such that the units are perverted or enslaved it becomes destructive of the end for which it was formed and [illegible] influence to republican institutions

That the great political parties of the United States have become [illegible] as truly slaveholders as the oligarchy of the South in ante bellum times goes without saying and the paramount question of to day is how to protect the voting unit from the surveillance and control of his political masters

To quiet the fears of well meaning citizens of both the great parties who are [illegible] afraid of [illegible] their political [illegible] than they are of original sin I will say that in my opinion, [illegible] partisanship is not inconsistent with true and enlightened citizenship and the better the partisan the better the citizen if the party is to be [illegible] instead of a hindrance to progress an auxiliary instead of an antagonist to popular government

Many of Mr Geer's admirers recollecting his work in the same [illegible] campaign, seem to be greatly shocked at his recent topsy turvey into the ranks of the anti prohibitionists which shows that they have over-estimated him or under-estimated the compelling debauching influence of the political machine, controlled as it is by the saloon Indeed it is a terrible temptation to a young and ambitious man aspiring to political honors and emoluments to be told in ways which are at least truthful that preferment can come only by submission to the powers that be that all ideas, convictions and purposes in conflict with the governing elements must be surrendered to obtain the harmony that leads to success. Is it any great wonder that ever so [illegible] strong men succumb to the pressure? I presume that Mr Geer is only adapting himself to present conditions And this view is strengthened if not verified by the fact that he has become a recent convert to the doctrine that civilization is achieved only by a multiplication and [illegible] intensity of temptations. If I believe this is [illegible] elevated in a base principle of [illegible] by some, and [illegible] lament the fact that many [illegible] go down under such conditions they console themselves by the reflection that the fittest survive [illegible] that only [illegible] this way can a high standard of excellence be reached But if the virtue or benefit to be derived from such a fearful contest comes only to those who are successful in resisting all warring temptations what good can come to Mr Geer and others who have not the [illegible]

General experience shows that yielding to one temptation instead of giving strength for a future contest rather prepares the way for a second defeat So Mr Geer has found it and it is highly probable that if he had gone valiant with [illegible] woman suffrage [illegible] formed convictions, he would [illegible] consistent with his speeches in favor of [illegible] the liquor traffic Mr Geer's [illegible]

BECOME A HEAVY STOCKHOLDER.

Mr Charles Pratt Owns a Large Interest in the W F E Company.

Within the past day or two Mr Charles Pratt of New York city has consummated the purchase of $160 000 worth of the stock of the Willamette Falls Electric Company which was all the stock undisposed of and he is now one of the largest stockholders. Mr Pratt is one of the principal stockholders of the Standard Oil Company, and on his recent visit to Portland on the occasion of the marriage of his son to a daughter of Mr W S Ladd he visited Oregon City, took a look at the great falls and the improvements going on there and the purchase of stock in the electric company was the result

It must be very gratifying to the other stockholders in the company to know that their enterprise was considered worthy of such a large investment in it, and it will be a good thing for this section to have such a prominent capitalist interested here as it will probably be the means of attracting the attention of other Eastern capitalists to this section The capital stock of the Willamette Falls Electric Company is $1 000,000, in shares of $100 each

HIS CRIME STILL FOLLOWS HIM.

A Wealthy and Respected Man Accused of Arson Twenty-five Years Ago.

Detective John T Norris of Springfield Ohio relates the following interesting story "I have just returned from a trip to Joplin, Mo , where I was compelled to throw a shadow on a highly respected family—that of John Swanton, a wealthy farmer with an interesting family and a fortune of about $100,000 He has been called to account for implication in the burning of the large mill of A D Packard, near Iowa City, in 1863.

"During the war Swanton was a member of Quantrell's band of raiders who followed the Union and Confederate armies through Missouri In this same company were two intimate friends one of whom was James Bailey The two were accustomed to separate from the main band and skirmish and plunder for themselves, and on one particular night in the year 1862 came upon the farm owned by wealthy Josiah Holbrook.

"The horses they had been riding being almost exhausted and finding in Holbrook's barn three horses in good condition, they appropriated them, left their old ones in the barn and set fire to it On making their escape they were seen by a son of old man Holbrook, who was just returning home on a furlough

"Taking in the situation at once Holbrook soon organized a posse of men and started in pursuit. They caught up with the thieves and a skirmish ensued in which one of Swanton's party was killed and Bailey captured, while Swanton alone escaped

"Being tired of the life he had been living he pushed eastward and finally settled down in Ohio Bailey in the meantime had been placed in jail, but managed to escape and hearing of Swanton's whereabouts joined him The reunion resulted in a good [illegible] for they determined to return to Iowa and avenge the death of their companion

"This they did by burning the Packard mill at Iowa City because one of the Packard family was a member of the Holbrook posse Both men were afterward caught but were released on $[illegible]500 bonds which they jumped and again fled eastward

"The Packard mill was insured for $6000 in one of the largest New York fire insurance companies, and after it burning the full amount of insurance was paid

"With the general excitement attending the close of the war the case was soon forgotten, and in the course of a few years Swanton thought he could return in safety to his old home which he did, and since that time he has been very prosperous

"I called on him at his 'beautiful home,'" continued the detective "and he appeared very willing to discuss the subject and at first tried to make himself feel secure by saying the case was outlawed The sight of an indictment before the grand jury at Iowa City made him change color, however and become very much excited

"He asked on what terms the case could be settled I told him by paying the $6000 insurance Whether he will do this or not I can't say, but unless he takes some action he will most likely have to pay the penalty

"As to Bailey, he is living in the West and will be arrested as soon as I can get back from Ohio Swanton cannot get away on account of his large interests, so I am sure of both of my men

THE COMPLETION OF THE SCHEME.

A writer in the New York Sun says that the alliance between the Vanderbilt system and the Union Pacific Company which has resulted in the creation of one continued line of road from New York to Portland embodies and completes a scheme undertaken eighty years ago by John Jacob Astor the elder Of Mr Astor's scheme this writer says

In 1810 he formed the "Pacific Fur Company" in conjunction with three Canadians and Wilson Price Hunt of New Jersey The main feature of his plan was the establishment of a line of trading posts from St Louis along the Missouri and afterward across the Rocky mountains to the headwaters of the Columbia, and thence down that river, and past what is now the city of Portland to the Pacific ocean At the same time goods were to be sent round Cape Horn in ships to the mouth of the Columbia where the principal post was to be placed, to be exchanged for furs Small vessels were to cruise up and down the coast collecting furs from the natives and numerous other trading stations were to be established inland subsidiary to the main depository at the mouth of the Columbia

Mr Astor and his associates labored strenuously for nearly three years to carry out their plans, but after the loss of much money and many human lives they were compelled to abandon them Their first ship was captured by the savages of the Pacific coast, its captain and crew were murdered and it was finally blown up by one of the wounded survivors Another vessel sent to take its place was wrecked, and the third arrived too late Of the explorers of the region inland, some were captured and killed and some perished from hunger and cold Finally the breaking out of the war between Great Britain and the United States and the inability of our government to protect so distant a part of the country compelled a sale of the remains of the property to a rival British fur company, and Mr Astor never resumed his efforts The town of Astoria, which he founded at the mouth of the Columbia still exists to commemorate his achievements, and the expedition which he sent from St Louis to establish the overland connection found its way after eleven months of painful and dangerous toil, across the Rocky mountains to Oregon by a route substantially the same as that now occupied by the allied railroads of the Chicago & Northwestern and the Union Pacific companies Mr Astor died long ago, none of his children are living, and his grandchildren are past middle age, but the magnificent scheme which he conceived and partially succeeded in accomplishing, now finds a fulfillment more complete than he ever dreamed of

ANDONMENT OF FORT KLAMATH.

Californians Have Proved Too Heavy for the Oregonians.

INEVILLE, Nov. 13.—The abandonment Fort Klamath is still an engrossing topic onversation. One man may be found is sanguine that the post will be reied, while another man, equally well inmed, will give it as his opinion that the will be abandoned. Your correspond had a short conversation with Sikes rden, the post trader, on the question. Worden said: "I think the fort will be ndoned. General Miles's recommendas have been overruled by the secretary war, and the original intention of the ndonment of the post will no doubt be car out. The situation is this: There are two itary posts, Forts Bidwell and Klamath, a great distance apart, one in Northern ifornia, the other in Southern Oregon. e of these is manifestly not needed. We, people of Oregon, of course think Bid that useless post while Californians nk Klamath the fort that should be abaned. Fearing that if Fort Klamath was reed, Bidwell would be abandoned, Califor people circulated an immense petition ying for the retention of Fort Bidwell, secured the good offices of Senator Stand to push their claims and in all probaty have succeeded, as they have always ved too heavy for Oregonians."

"In the event of the abandonment of amath, will the land belonging to the miliy reserve be sold?"

"No, the land is part of the Indian reseron, and was set apart for military use will revert to the Interior department nt when the post is removed. The agency, proper, will then be removed to the sent site of Fort Klamath, as it is a more gible situation."

The suit of Paul vs Land for dissolution partnership, calls to mind the mysterious appearance of Louis Land, one of the rties in the suit, in the fall of 1887. HOW IT WAS DONE IN OHIO.

raker Walked Into the Trap of the Democratic Sabbatarians.

The defeat of Foraker for governor in hio was caused by republican Sabbatarians tting their faith in the promises and piety democratic and prohibition Sabbatarians, o set the trap for the third-term governor, ited it with promises of votes, and into it walked, unwarned by past experiences d unsuspecting the perfidy of these pious ople, who had kindly tendered the assistce of the Lord as well as their own for a ird term. The trap was then sprung, and e victim was securely caught.

The law regulating Sunday observances as passed in the legislature by the help of irty democratic votes. This, the Chicago ibune declares, was the beginning the plot. The responsibility for e law was thrown upon the republicans, they were in the majority in the legislare. It was only necessary to induce them enforce the law in the face of public sentent in Cincinnati and some other cities to ake it odious and secure republican defeat. e triangle undertook this work. The emocratic Christians and the prohibition bbatarians, aided by the radical ergy, assailed Mayor Mosby, of Cincinnati, ith blandishments and menaces, and last approached Governor Foraker and unctuous and seductive tenders of several ousand votes of truly good men induced im to write a letter to Mayor Mosby urgg him to smite the offending Germans gainst the Owen Sabbath "dry" with a eavy hand. The crafty democrat and proibition Sabbatarians applauded the govnor's letter to the echo. It effected its rpose. Mayor Mosby began the smiting. e did his work impartially. The saloon d the beer garden were not only closed on unday, but the baseball boys were smitten d fled from their diamonds. The barbers' ops were closed. The cigar men put up eir shutters over Sunday. The ice-cream hops and the soda water fountains were osed, and had the campaign lasted a little nger the milk wagons and horse cars ould have been driven off the streets. The abbatarians were delighted, for at last the wen law was enforced and unsuspecting oraker complacently regarded the 7000 otes of democratic Christians and prohibion Sabbatarians which he was to receive as s quid pro quo for the Mosby letter!

Then came election. The democratic hristians, who had been howling for a dry" Puritan Sunday, marched up to the olls and pulled out of their vest pockets a wet Sunday" ticket, and plumped for ampbell, the anti-Sunday law candidate, ho is opposed to the Owen law and wants repealed. The prohibition Sabbatarians lso, who had helped to bait the trap, left oraker in the lurch and voted for their wn "dry" candidate. They could easily ave elected him, but they wanted to stab e republican party. There were not nough Sabbatarian republican votes to eat the "wet" and "dry" democratic hristians, aided as they were by the Prohibs., and poor, deluded Foraker tumbled to the soup. The hypocritical democratic nd Prohib. Christians turned round and oted against him, and defeated the Sunday w for which they had howled with so uch noise. They have placed men in ower whose first step will be to repeal it.

If this were the first time these good peole had played this game, Foraker and the epublicans would be excusable, but it is not e first time, nor the second, nor the third. t has been played over and over again, and very time the trap is set republicans of the oraker kind walk straight into it. It has ecome a matter of course for these harps to trade on republican gullibility and r democratic Christians to set up heathen hinee games on them.

NEW YORK REAL ESTATE.

ntown Apartment Houses Are Largely in Excess of the Demand.

The Financier.

It is not generally known but the fact is nquestionable, that a serious convulsion hreatens a certain class of New York City roperty that is highly calculated to ruin any well-to-do people. Then there seems be no observable remedy, instead, the ore general and widespread the existing ifficulties are made known, he less likely ood remains of there being any recovery. Uptown flats and apartment dwellings, to hich we allude, are largely in excess of the emand. While hundreds of millions have een invested in this class of property it mains an open question whether under oreclosure it would realize 50 cents on the ollar.

As great a loss as such a difference is, it no means covers the situation, for initers well know—although they openly deny or keep it onal interests they openly deny—that many of the large apart themselves—that many of the large apartent houses up town do not afford revenue nough in rentals to pay for their steam eating, elevator and janitor services, withut counting taxes, repairs, interest and he incidentals appertaining to such properes. And to insiders it is further known hat such properties are hourly offered for a raction of their cost, in order that their wners may be relieved of the threatening rouble that is likely to be developed in the mmediate future.

Undoubtedly there is a bottom figure for ll this class of property, for the reason that here are thousands upon thousands of nonesidents who would, on their own terms, ccupy such structures, but these terms are no wise proportionate to these structures' ost; instead, they are so much lower that he owners can see in them—not only no rofit, but far worse—insufficient returns to ay outside expenses. His money invested s not only idle, but he is threatened with ontingent liabilities that are likely to wamp the whole investment.

Y CASE, THE ROBBER

ture of the Second Raider of the Chinese Camp.

MAKES A FULL CONFESSION

Additional Particulars of the Drowning at Yaquina Bay.

ES OF THE NINE VICTIMS

o'clock yesterday afternoon City Marshal of East Portland, arrested John Case, an in the Sisters' hospital at Vancouver, where the latter was undergoing surgical treatment for a serious cut in the head. Case was one of the men implicated in the disastrous and sanguinary raid made on a camp of Chinese woodchoppers near Albina, last Tuesday night, and is a very hard case. The prisoner was brought to the city and lodged in the county jail.

District Attorney McGinn has already taken the case in hand, subpoenaed witnesses and will submit the case to the grand jury to-day. He is determined to leave no stone unturned in his efforts to land the prisoner in the penitentiary, where he properly belongs. At the present status of affairs, it looks as if Case will again be behind the bars in a very short time. Mr. McGinn yesterday said in speaking of the case in conversation with a reporter:

"Nothing will please me more than being instrumental in sending this man to the 'pen.' His assault is without being entirely unprovoked, a most foolish one. These men attempted to rob the industrious Chinamen of their hard earned money, and on their refusal to disgorge, opened fire on them. The Chinese cook resented the assault and used his little hatchet with good effect. He acted entirely in self defense, and was perfectly justified in doing what he did. It is to be regretted that this ruffian Case did not share the same fate as his comrade, Lockwood, alias Bassett, as the state would thereby have been saved considerable expense."

THE STORY TOLD BY CASE.

The prisoner, Case, is about 25 years of age and [illegible]. He was released from the penitentiary at Salem, about seven months ago, where he had just completed a term of three years for a crime committed in Astoria. The story he tells of the raid on the Chinese camp is as follows:

"I was with Bassett in the raid on the Chinese camp near Albina. I became acquainted with him in the 'pen,' about four years ago, where he was serving time for stage robbery. I was serving a three years' sentence for grand larceny, committed in Astoria. I met him in this city five or six days ago, when he told me that he had a 'job' on hand. I accompanied him to the Chinese camp near Albina Tuesday night. He went inside and demanded the money of the Chinaman, while I stood guard at the door to see that none escaped. I heard the shooting, but did not hear anything said. I saw two Chinamen outside of the tent, and do not know whether Bassett was cut or shot. I heard several shots fired—probably eight or ten—but do not know who fired them. I don't know who cut me, and in fact I did not know that I was injured until after the rumpus was over.

"When Bassett came out he said that a Chinaman had cut him and he was dying. We ran until he was so weak from loss of blood that he could proceed no farther, and then I carried him. Finally I became so weak from loss of blood that I could no longer bear the burden, and then I laid him down, placing a coat under his head that he might rest as easy as possible. Seeing that I could do no more for him, I left him where he was and took the boat in which we had rowed down to Albina and came on up to this city. I spent the night in a lodging house on First and Jefferson streets, presided over by a Mrs. Graham, and then proceeded to Vancouver to have my wound, which was troubling me a great deal, dressed. This is about all there is to say. One thing, however, let me impress upon you, and that is that there was only two of us in the raid, and not three, as the Chinamen claim. Bassett had two pistols, one of which he gave me to guard the camp with, but I did not need to use it."

CONFESSES TO THE OFFICERS.

Case, on being arrested at Vancouver yesterday, claimed to be an innocent party. In accounting for the wound in his head, he claimed that it was caused by the explosion of a cheap gun. He had convinced the sisters that this was the case, but Marshal [illegible] would not have it that way. On arriving in this city he found that there was no use in persisting in trying to hoodwink the officers, and made a clean breast of the whole affair, as recorded above. After leaving his dying companion Case hid the two revolvers, but, after a great deal of trouble, they were found by Mr. [illegible] yesterday. The latter showed them to a reporter yesterday. They are both "bull dogs," one of them of the British and the other American type, each forty-four caliber. The one that Case claims to have had was loaded, and, from all appearances, had not been discharged. All five of the chambers of the revolver used by Lockwood were empty. Both of the pistols were blood-stained.

THE LOCKWOOD INQUEST.

CORONER'S JURY RETURNS A VERDICT THAT THE CHINAMAN ACTED IN SELF-DEFENSE.

Coroner Holman summoned a jury and held an inquest on the remains of Myron D. Lockwood, alias Charles Bassett, yesterday afternoon.

J. I. Barlow, a Gold Hill, Jackson county, hotel keeper, testified that he knew the deceased, whose alias was Charles Bassett.

Deputy Theo. Venningerholz related the circumstances leading up to the finding of Bassett near Albina in a dying condition.

The testimony of Sam Wah and Charley Ah [illegible] was very brief. They both said that the men who attacked them were strangers who demanded money and, on being refused, opened fire. They wore masks and there were three in the party.

John Case, one of the would-be raiders, was brought before the jury, but his testimony was substantially the same as what he is quoted as saying. He swore positively that he had only one companion in the attempted robbery and murderous assault.

THE VERDICT.

The jury returned a verdict to the effect that the name of the person upon whom they were holding the inquest was "Charles Bassett," aged about 35 years, and that he came to his death at the hands of a Chinaman named Who Ah Mine, who acted in self-defense.

However, there seems to be no doubt that the real name of the deceased is Myron D. Lockwood, and he has respected relatives residing in Eugene. At one time he was quite wealthy, being quite a prominent politician in this state.

THE YAQUINA BAY HORROR.

The Complete Details of the Wholesale Drowning that Occurred a Week Ago Yesterday.

E. F. M. Simpson, who has just returned from Newport, Yaquina bay, and who is conversant with the particulars of the drowning of nine persons which took place in Yaquina bay on the 7th, was seen by an OREGONIAN reporter last evening in regard to the most deplorable event.

"This, without doubt, the saddest accident that ever occurred on Yaquina bay. A mother and seven children sent to their death in a few moments; four children made fatherless and a woman left to struggle for a living for her little ones.

"Two weeks ago to-day Mr. Parker and his family, consisting of his wife, seven children and his wife's mother and grandmother arrived in Newport from Madison, Lake county, Dak., to locate on the coast. They stopped with H. A. Wagner, whose wife is a sister of Mrs. Parker. A few days ago Mr. Parker found a claim on Beaver creek and made arrangements to move his household goods below Seal rock. They bought a supply of goods from Mr. L. Beach, a storekeeper at Newport, and he was transporting the goods across the bay while Mr. Parker was taking his family over in a row boat borrowed from the [illegible]. The boat was a substantial one, Mr. [illegible] having frequently carried 1400 pounds in it, and not 'an old rattletrap, hardly better than a shell,' as one of the papers has chosen to call it. The occupants of the boat were unfamiliar with the handling of it, and to this fact is due the accident.

"Mr. Beach started ahead of the party with the goods in two boats. Mr. Wagner concluded to go with Mr. Parker and his family and bring the boat back. The party had not gotten half across when the waves, which broke over the gunwale of the boat, had nearly filled it.

THEY STRUGGLED TO BEACH THE BOAT

on the sand spit near the buoy used by the government scows. They probably got into the rough surf that breaks across the sand spit and the boat filled and sank. How long it was before he was picked up Mr. Parker could not say. They left Oleonville about 9 o'clock, and judging to this the accident must have taken place some ten minutes before the steamer Richardson arrived on the scene. From Mr. [illegible] house Mrs. Eastman saw through glasses the occupants of the ill-fated boat were having trouble. She could see the surf breaking over the boat and the men waving their hats. She at once sent to Mr. Schwalbold, and Emil Etter went in a boat to give assistance. But it was too late to rescue any of them. He succeeded in getting the bodies of three of the children and took them to their relative's house in Oleonville. He was overcome by fatigue and cold or he thinks he might have found more of the bodies. As soon as the accident was known in Newport boats started to the scene to try and find the bodies. In the south channel about opposite Point Virtue, Tracy Davis's boat found the body of Mrs. Parker floating. She had her 7-year-old girl Rosa, clasped in her arms.

THE VICTIMS' NAMES.

"The following are the names of those lost: H. A. Wagner aged 36, Mrs. Mary A. Parker aged 30, Roy Parker aged 11, Guy Parker aged 9, Rosa Parker aged 7, Alice Parker aged 6, Leonard Parker aged 4, Charlie Parker aged 7 months, and Emma Parker aged 2 years."

The bodies recovered up to the time I left were Mrs. Parker, Guy, Rosa, Alice, Charlie, Leonard and Emma. Mr. Wagner came here in July from Dubuque, Ia., with his wife and four children. He leaves his family in destitute circumstances, as they were depending upon his daily labor for support. He was a hard working man, who made a favorable impression on those with whom he had business relations."

"Mr. Parker blames the officers of the steamer Richardson for not being able to save his wife. He told me that his wife was floating about sixty feet away when the steamer picked him up, but he could not persuade the captain of the steamer that such was the case."

THE FENCES WILL COST $168,000.

Superintendent Brandt, of the Southern Pacific, Talks About Them.

Particulars of the Southern Pacific's fences which the company is about to build on each side their tracks, were yesterday obtained from Superintendent Brandt.

"We are now getting the material and supplies ready as fast as we can for the first installment. This will consist of some thirty miles of road, sixty miles of fence. Most of it will be within the city limits of East Portland, the rest will be scattered along up the valley in the worst places."

"What kind of a fence will you build?"

"It is to be a high strong wire fence, with one board nailed along the top."

"How much is it going to cost?"

Mr. Brandt made a brief mental calculation and said: "That fence is going to cost us, count on the material, labor and everything, no less than 75 cents for every rod put up.

"The whole length which is to be fenced is about 350 miles, making 700 miles of fence.

"We shall probably keep right at work on other lots as soon as this first sixty miles of fence is up. We cannot let the work stop. It must go right on."

THE WEST POINT CADETSHIP.

The Examination Concluded, but the Markings Not to Be Revealed.

The board appointed by Congressman Hermann to examine candidates for admission to West Point, have completed their labors, formulated their report to Mr. Hermann and forwarded it to him.

The result of the examination is in every way satisfactory. All of the four young men averaging over 85 per cent. They are a fine looking set of fellows, anyone of which, would do credit to the state.

The percentage of the various examination papers will not be made public by the board, the candidates themselves will be in suspense until Mr. Hermann makes the choice, which will probably be done soon. The report is signed by the committee, General William Kapus, Professor I. W. Pratt and Doctor R. Glisan.

"I do not blame the board for not making the rating of the candidates public," said a gentleman who was on a previous occasion a member of a similar board. "You see the candidates who are the most eligible physically, rarely turn out to be the best educated, and sometimes it is thought best to take the second best mentally, if the best man's physical strength and soundness is not of the first quality.

"But this is not all. Of late years there has been in some instances, enormous pressure brought to bear upon the congressman for the appointment of a certain candidate. For instance, there are not a few who remember when Davis, who now stands seventh in his class of forty-five at West Point, was appointed in the face of the most strenuous kind of efforts to have a Portland boy chosen. So you see it makes it smoother all around to keep the markings secret."

SALMON AND STURGEON FISHING.

The Chinook, the Silverside and Steelheads—"Angling" all the Season Round.

Salmon fishing is prosecuted in the Columbia and its tributaries all the year round. The season for taking Chinook salmon is fixed by law from the 1st of April to the 1st of August. After this the silverside fishing begins. This year there has been a great many of these fish caught, especially in the Cowlitz river, from which many tons have been shipped here. The run of silversides is now about over, and they are followed by the steelheads, which are now in the river.

A fisherman was met by a reporter yesterday in a net and twine dealer's, making a purchase of nets for the steelhead fishing.

In answer to inquiries, he said the steelhead fishing would last till March, when it would be at its best, but, unfortunately, March was a close month. He has been examining the Clackamas for a place to establish a fishery, but says it is a hard stream to fish in,—swift and shallow—and where there are long deep pools they are taken up. The steelheads are caught principally in the Willamette below the falls and in the Clackamas. They used to be plentiful in the Cowlitz, but not many are caught there now.

The steelhead is a better fish than the silverside, and is a favorite in the New York market, being a firm fish and standing shipping well. They used to sell here five years ago for $2 50 per dozen, but bring a much better price now.

When asked if there was any danger of this species becoming exterminated, the fisherman said they were becoming scarce, and he thought something should be done to preserve them, as they were a valuable fish, especially as they come at a season when there are no other salmon. There is not likely to be a great many engaged in the steelhead fishery this year, as nearly all the fishermen on the river are engaged in catching sturgeon for the Eastern market. There are not less than 400 men between Cape Horn and Cathlamet fishing for sturgeon; some of them are fishing in the usual way with barbed hooks and bait, but others are using what is called the Chinese hook, which has no barb and requires no bait, which is quite a saving, as eels for bait cost 5 cents per pound, and a large quantity is used. The Chinese hooks have a square bend, and are made as sharp as needles. They are strung along close together in lines which are kept a short distance from the bottom by floats. The fish come swimming along near the bottom and run against these hooks and when caught on one, in their struggles get sometimes several more stuck in them.

The sturgeon and steel heads are both in good demand for shipping East, and the fishermen are likely to make more money in the winter than they do during the summer.

MORRIS GAY AGAIN HEARD FROM

He Steals Another Horse and Defies Two Pursuers.

Yesterday Frank Finch, a resident of Yamhill county, informed a Telegram reporter that Morris Gay, the thief who stole Dr A. J. Gelsy's horse and buggy, and after his arrest managed to break out of jail here, got away with another horse near Lafayette Tuesday night, but within an hour after his theft he was caught up with by two resolute men, ordering him to halt.

The desperate thief cried out to them: "I guess not! I am Gay, and if you're better men than I am, you'll take me!" The pursuers fired at Gay, without effect, and he returned the compliment three-fold, making good his escape, while his pursuers were struck with terror.

It is said that he had a repeating rifle with him, which, no doubt, he stole from a house raided by him and another last Friday night. It will indeed be strange if Gay is not apprehended or killed before the end of the week. The man is desperate, and will take desperate chances before allowing himself to be arrested.

AT THE THEATERS.

Last Nights of Milton Nobles at New Park—"Jealousy" at Cordray's.

"The Phœnix" captured another audience at the New Park last night, and its many amusing situations kept the house in a most amiable mood. To-night "From Sire to Son" will be given for the last time, and at the matinee to-morrow, which will be the last performance of the engagement, "Love and Law" will be the bill.

The matinee will commence promptly at 1 o'clock as the company leaves by the afternoon train for San Francisco.

CORDRAY'S MUSEE THEATER.—"Jealousy" drew another good house last night and Sid France's clever delineation of the negro Toby pleased the audience greatly.

The same bill for the rest of the week.

TALKS WITH TRAVELERS.

A Health Seeker—Traffic Manager Hannaford—Banker Balch—All Like Portland.

Judge James Burns, of Challis, Idaho, a hotel man, and probate judge of Custer county, was at the Merchant's yesterday.

"Business in all lines is quiet, but steady," he said to a reporter. "The Bay Horse smelter has closed down, but the Clayton is running yet. The quartz mill at Custer City is still running and turning out very profitable output.

"I am now en route to San Francisco, and shall spend about two months at the health resorts of California, which is the chief purpose of my present journey."

Andrew and William Hoas, brothers, of Moorhead, Minnesota, real estate investors, representing a large amount of Eastern capital, left last evening for the South. The Hoas brothers left Moorhead October 19, and came by the Canadian Pacific. They visited the Sound country, but are much more favorably impressed with Portland as a place for investment than with Tacoma or Seattle.

"We have not yet determined fully what we shall do with reference to investment here," said one of them. "Before we return home we shall examine into the projects of arid land improvements in California and the much vaunted mining properties of Mexico.

"Yes, I have been in the real estate business thirty-two years, and think I know a good thing when I see it. We were impressed with the commercial opportunities of the vast and quiet harbors of Puget sound, but we did not find there the supporting country which we see about Portland."

G. W. Dickenson, assistant general superintendent of the Northern Pacific, with headquarters at Helena, is in the city, in company with General Manager Mellen and General Traffic Manager Hannaford.

Mr Hannaford was approached by a reporter concerning the recent action for an injunction in which their road appears as defendant to a charge of the O. R. & N. Co. that the latter is unjustly discriminated against by the Northern.

"I cannot with propriety discuss the situation with you," said Mr. Hannaford, "though personally I should be glad to give you any information within my power. Our interests in the matter are being looked after by our attorney, Mr C. A. Dolph, to whom you can go for information."

Mr. E. E. Balch, assistant cashier of that great financial institution, the Omaha National bank, is in the city. Mr Balch said to a reporter that he is surprised and pleased at the great strides which Portland has made in a forward direction since his visit here one year ago.

"I had to take my vacation out this way again," said he. "I am delighted with your winter climate here and the enterprise and courtesy of your business men, many of whom I have become acquainted with.

"Yes, Omaha is growing wonderfully. Her banking facilities have doubled in the past five years, and yet it is only the natural demand of our increasing trade. We have a boom there all the time. It don't react like those of your California towns.

"But if I was 'foot loose' to-day, there is no place I should give a serious consideration to, with a view to locating, in preference to Portland. I am in love with that new hotel of yours, and shall be more so when its doors are opened to wayfarers."

THE GOSPEL MEETINGS.

The East Park and Columbia-Street Tabernacle—First Congregational Church.

Dr. Reese's theme at the Tabernacle last night was "Light in Life." The Scripture motto, John i:4, "In him was life, and the life was the light of men."

"I would not stand before you at all," said the preacher, "if I did not believe that Christianity was a rational religion. No one can know God by being ignorant. The text brings us face to face with a great, real fact. Every science has rules for the demonstration or illustration of its teachings. The New Testament is God's science of saving man from sin to a holy character. The Christ character is the only standard in which is salvation from sin. The text is a key to this problem of salvation. Let us take it and unlock the gate of life. 'In him was life,—not simply existence and the source of existence, but much more. The word life here means activity, as every scholar knows well. What life or activity is affirmed to be in Christ? The activity of God's love. In my earlier Christian thinking this 'life' was to me a great mystery. But as I looked into the word and its meaning, I became satisfied that the activity of Christ, in word and deed, was the light of men.

"It is often said to me, 'you say so much about believe in Christ, believe in Christ.' Don't you believe what Christ says? Yes, and he said, 'he that believeth in me shall never die.' Do you want the light? Find it by accepting him and his life. Faith in a person, not a doctrine. To improve on oak, it must be done along the line of an oak. To improve on maple, it must be done along the line of a maple. To regenerate a soul, it must be done along the line of a personal Christ, for you are a person."

At the close of the sermon, which was closely listened to by a good audience, two united with the church. Dr. Reese's theme for to-night is "What is Faith?" All will be welcomed.

"THY SINS ARE FORGIVEN.

At the eighth Gospel meeting at the First Congregational church last night the services were of considerable interest to those in attendance. After an earnest petition by the pastor for the presence of the Holy Spirit No. 151, "Sing, Oh Sing of My Redeemer," was sung, and this was followed by several others, interspersed with several prayers by laymen.

Rev. T. E. Clapp, the pastor, preached a discourse on the subject of "God's Forgiveness of Sin," taking for his text Luke vii, 48: "Thy Sins are Forgiven." The burden of his discourse was that those who love much are forgiven much.

The meeting to-night will be at 7 30, and the singing will be led by Professor Wilder. Rev. Mr. Clapp will preach.

At the Congregational church in Albina Rev. Cephas F. Clapp will preach again to-night.

AN IRRESPONSIBLE CONTRACTOR

He Threw Up the Job and Left the Men in the Lurch.

Persons letting contracts for buildings, etc. can not be too careful in regard to advancing money to irresponsible contractors, as, if these are not honest, there is likely to be trouble. Messrs. Fliedner & Holman a short time since let a contract to a man to build an artificial stone sidewalk in front of their new building at Fourth and Washington. He was to lay it on arches of concrete, but when he had laid his concrete four inches in thickness, he started in to fill the rest of the space with sand. The architect stopped him, and he threw up the job. A few days before Messrs. Fliedner & Holman had paid him $500, and had at the same time taken the precaution to warn the laborers employed, as well as the men who furnished cement and sand, that they must collect their pay.

They, however failed to do so, and when the fellow abandoned the job these parties all came back on Messrs Fliedner & Holman for their pay, and they got it, too. Under the law, there was no use in trying to escape payment, as the contractor is the agent of the owner, and if he does not pay the owner must. From this it will be seen that it is advisable to let contracts to responsible persons.

IT IS A VERY "PIOUS NOTION."

The Good Work of Leveling Up.

Workmen were yesterday placing planks along the outside of the rails of the street car track on Morrison street, level with the track, which will enable vehicles to cross the track without danger of taking off a wheel. There is frequent complaint that the street car tracks are above the level of the street, and the car companies are blamed for this. The fact is, the tracks are always laid to grade and the street is nearly always below grade. In some places where a street is badly worn when the track is laid the track is several inches above it. The streets wear out, in most cases much faster than they should, but the track does not wear out.

When the car tracks are seen high above the surface of the street it is a sure sign that the street needs repairing. If the car tracks were not there the lowering of the street would not be noticed. There will always be more or less trouble about the matter as long as streets continue to wear out faster than iron rails. A stout plank alongside the track appears to be as good a thing to protect vehicles as it is practical to put in.

HOXIE HAS GONE TO SACRAMENTO.

He Will Secure the Necessary Requisition Papers Before Bringing Gibbs to Portland.

Deputy Sheriff Hoxie, who left here for the purpose of bringing the murderer, Gibbs, from Yreka to Portland, will not reach here with his prisoner as soon as was expected. Last evening the following dispatch was received here by THE OREGONIAN:

YREKA, Cal., Nov 14.

The Portland deputy sheriff stopped at Salem on his way for a requisition, and then proceeded to Sacramento to see the governor of this state for papers to take Gibbs, the murderer, from here. He will be back to Yreka Saturday, and will be accompanied by the officer who arrested Gibbs, in delivering him at Portland.

PERSONAL.

R. C. Templeton, a merchant of Spokane is at St. Charles.

H. Winterman, the Waterford canneryman, is at the St. Charles.

G. R. Campbell, of the Eugene City Guard, was in the city yesterday.

Hon. Seymour Condon, of Eugene, is in the city on professional business.

D. Swannock, the Sprague hotel man, with his wife and child, are at the Quimby.

P. H. Johnson and James Dalgity, cannery men from Astoria, are at the St. Charles.

Judge Mark A. Fullerton, of Colfax, was in the city yesterday on his way home from Olympia.

Claim Agent Bretherton, of the Southern Pacific, is absent on a variety of errands up the Willamette valley.

Mr. C. H. Prescott and family arrived from Tacoma by the 3 15 P. M. train yesterday to remain here permanently.

Harry B. Bell leaves to-night for the Sound to manage the attractions playing the Sound circuit. He will be absent a week.

Mr Ralph M Dement leaves to-day for a two weeks' trip on the Sound and over the lines of the Northern Pacific. His trip may be extended East.

Sheriff Kelly was yesterday confined to his house, in consequence of a bad cold which settled in his eyes. His eyes have been badly inflamed for several days.

S. S. Pound, of Mitchell, S. D., has been at the Quimby for a day or two. Mr Pound is a heavy rancher, and has already considerable real property hereabout, to which he contemplates making additions.

Chief Joseph, of the Nez Perces, and Interpreter Arthur E. Chapman arrived yesterday, and are quartered at the Esmond. Joseph will visit the Cyclorama this afternoon in company with General Gibbon, and take in the New Park theater at night, occupying Box B at the right of the stage, upon invitation of Managers Howe and Bell.

Something new for lunch at Freimann's. Everybody invited. Corner First and Oak.

For a disordered liver try BEECHAM'S PILLS.

THE LATE WILLIAM H. GRAY.

An Aged and Honored Pioneer Who Has Passed From Earth.

A Brief Sketch of the Long, Useful and Eventful Life of Deceased—Incidents—Relatives—The Funeral.

Mr William H. Gray, the pioneer, so well known to all old residents, who has been ill for some weeks at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr Jacob Kamm, in this city, died at 2 20 o'clock yesterday morning. Mr Gray was born in Fairfield, New York, September 8, 1809, being, therefore, in his 81st year. For the past two years Mr. Gray has made his home, more or less, with Mr. Kamm, his last coming hither having been seven weeks ago. His health has been weakened considerably by two severe falls he has experienced during the past two years, but his indomitable perseverance has kept him from yielding to inactivity, as many men of age would have done. It is only two months since he made a journey through the country alone.

William H. Gray first came to Oregon in 1836 in company with Dr Marcus Whitman and wife, and Rev. H. H. Spalding and wife. Mentioning the circumstances under which he came to join the party of west bound missionaries, Mr. Gray in his history of Oregon, (page 112) says:

"Messrs Whitman and Spalding, with their wives, and a re-enforcement for the Pawnee mission, made their way to Liberty Landing, on the Missouri river in 1836. At that place they were joined by a young man, named W. H. Gray, from Utica, New York, who was solicited by the agents of the American board to join this expedition, as its secular agent."

Speaking of the same circumstance, H. H. Bancroft in his history of Oregon (Vol. I, page 126) says:

"The company of four, with a re-enforcement for the Pawnee mission of Dunbar and Allige, now proceeded to Liberty, Missouri, where they were joined by the fifth Oregon missionary, William H. Gray, of Utica, New York, who had been engaged as a mechanic and secular aid to the mission. He was a good-looking young fellow, tall of stature, with fine black eyes, without special education, but having pronounced natural abilities, of quick feelings, etc.

THE MISSION PARTY.

This mission party had brought with them a full supply of the supposed et ceteras for a life and residence 2000 miles from any possible chance to renew those supplies when exhausted, having the material for a blacksmith shop, a plow, and all sorts of seeds, clothing, etc., to last for two years. Mr Gray found his hands full in making calculations for the transportation of this large amount of baggage, or goods, as the trader would say. In a few days wagons, teams, pack mules, horses and cows were all purchased in the county of Liberty, Missouri, the goods all overhauled, repacked, loaded into the two mission wagons, and an extra team hired to go as far as Fort Leavenworth. Spalding and Gray started with the train, three wagons, eight mules, twelve horses and sixteen cows, two men, two Indian boys and the man with the extra team. Dr. Whitman, having the ladies in charge, was to come up the Missouri river in the first boat and await the arrival of the train having the greater portion of the goods with it. Boats on the Missouri river not being so numerous as at the present time, the doctor and party did not reach Leavenworth till the train had arrived.

After encountering many hardships and being exposed to many dangers, the party reached Walla Walla September 1, 1836.

A PERILOUS JOURNEY.

It was from the Flathead tribe that the first Indian delegation was sent to ask for teachers. Three of their number volunteered to go with Gray to the States in 1837 to urge their claims for teachers to come among them. The party reached Ash hollow, where they were attacked by about 300 Sioux warriors and, after fighting three hours, killed some fifteen of them, when the Sioux, by means of a French trader then among them, obtained a parley with Gray and his traveling companions, two young men who had started to go to the States with him. While the Frenchman was in conversation with Gray, the treacherous Sioux made a rush upon the three Flatheads, one Snake and one Iroquois Indian belonging to the party, and killed them.

The Frenchman then turned to Gray and told him and his companions that they were prisoners, and must go to the Sioux camp, first attempting to get possession of their guns. Gray informed him at once: "You have killed our Indians in a cowardly manner and you shall not have our guns," at the same time telling the young men to watch the first motion of the Indians to take their lives, and if they must die to take as many Indians with them as they could. The Sioux had found in the contest thus far that, notwithstanding they had conquered and killed five, they had lost fifteen, among them one of their war chiefs, besides several severely wounded. The party were not further molested till they reached the camp, containing between one and two hundred lodges. A full explanation was had of the whole affair.

Gray had two horses killed under him, and two balls had passed through his hat, both inflicting slight wounds. The party were feasted and smoked the pipe of peace over the dead body of the chief's son; next day they were allowed to proceed with nine of their horses, the balance, with the property of the Indians, the Sioux claimed as part pay for their losses, doubtless calculating to waylay and take the balance of the horses. Be that as it may, Gray and his young men reached Council Bluffs in twenty one days, traveling nights and during storms to avoid the Indians on the plains.

HIS SECOND JOURNEY WESTWARD.

Gray was successful in enlisting for the mission three clergymen with their newly married wives, a young unmarried man, and a young woman who became his own wife. In a private letter written after her death, in 1881, Mr. Gray states that it was an instance of love at first sight, which continued as long as her life. He met Miss Mary Augusta Dix, a handsome, stately brunette, on the evening of the 19th of February, 1838, and became engaged to her the same evening. Six days later they were married, and on the morning of the 26th started westward to join the caravan of the American Fur Company. Among those who came out with Gray in 1838 were Rev. Elkanah Walker and wife, and Rev. E. Eells and wife. Rev. Walker died in Washington county, Nov. 21, 1877. His wife still lives, and resides at Forest Grove, Or. She is the earliest pioneer white woman who rode across the plains on horseback. Rev. Mr. Eells lives in Whitman county, Washington. The party arrived in Walla Walla in September, 1838. Speaking of the return of this party, Bancroft (page 137) says:

"On account of the feeling among the Flatheads over the loss of five of their people, and the young chief, in Gray's company, his destination as missionary to them was changed, and he remained alternately at Lapwai and Waiilatpu, visiting several tribes, both in Eastern and Western Oregon, and going back to secular pursuits after three or four years."

On the arrival of the missionary party headed by Gray at Walla Walla, in 1838, they were accorded a suitable reception, which, Gray adds, "must have been witnessed to be fully realized, every demonstration of joy and respect being manifested. The best apartments were placed at the service of the women, and the men were relieved of all care of their horses and cattle, the table was furnished in the way of potatoes, green corn and melons, and it was like a home coming to all."

ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

It was in the fall of 1839 that Mr. and Mrs. Gray, their son, and two Nez Perce Indians in a Chinook canoe, left for the Whitman station. This they left in November, 1842, for Celilo, thence in an Indian canoe by Vancouver and Oregon City to near Butteville, thence to the place selected to build the Oregon institute at Salem.

In 1844 Mr. Gray moved to Oregon City; in 1846 to Clatsop plains, in 1855 to Astoria; in 1858 to Hope, B. C.

From 1858 to 1864 Mr Gray was engaged in steamboating on the Fraser, upper Columbia and Snake rivers. He then returned to Astoria, and in 1872 his home was made on the Klaskanine farm. Between the farm and his Astoria residence the remainder of his life was spent, with the exception of two visits East, the latter of which was made in 1883, upon the occasion of the completion of the transcontinental railway, when an excursion was tendered to the Pioneers.

PUBLIC SERVICES.

Mr. Gray was actively associated with many institutions and associations, whose histories would be incomplete without reference to his name and work.

In July, 1843, he was one of the first legislative committee of nine which was organized to govern the territory. He was also a member of the first territorial legislature, in 1849, and took a very active part in the proceedings of that body. He was also a prominent member of the provisional legislature of '58–59.

In 1870 he published a history of Oregon, embracing the period from 1792 to 1849, "drawn from personal observation and authentic information." In this, with characteristic modesty, he alluded in the briefest possible manner to his own work, while dwelling in detail upon the career of his confreres.

MR. GRAY'S FAMILY.

In 1881 Mr. Gray buried the faithful companion of his labors Mary Augusta Dix Gray, who died on the 8th of December of that year.

The children are as follows: Captain J. H. D. Gray, Astoria; Mrs Caroline Kamm, Portland; Mrs. Mary S. Tarbell, Tacoma; Mrs Sarah F. Abernethy, Ralatine Hill; Captain William P. Gray, Pasco; Captain Albert W. Gray, Ellensburgh; Captain James T. Gray, Vancouver. Added to these are thirty-two grandchildren and two great grandchildren. All the children will be present at the funeral excepting Captain A. W. Gray, who is on his steamboat, City of Ellensburgh, up in the Okanogan country. Mrs Tarbell arrived on the Northern Pacific last night.

THE OBSEQUIES.

In the presence of a few intimate friends brief ceremonies were last evening had at Mr. Kamm's residence, conducted by Rev. Arthur J. Brown of the First Presbyterian church.

The remains will be taken to Astoria on the steamer Telephone this morning, accompanied by the family. The funeral services proper will be held at Astoria immediately upon the arrival of the boat.

Scratched 28 Years

Body covered with scales. Itching terrible. Suffering endless. No relief. Doctors and medicines fail. Speedily cured by Cuticura at a cost of $5.

Cured by Cuticura

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty eight years ago I would have saved me $200 00 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endless and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ringworm, psoriasis, etc. I took [illegible] and [illegible] Sarsaparillas over one year and a half, but no cure. I went to two or three doctors, and no cure. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them were three boxes of CUTICURA, and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200.00, you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (picture number two "How to Cure Skin Diseases"), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. Anything more that you want to know, write me, or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it.

The Row Was Investigated—The Tax Levy—Coming Election—To Have a Horse Cart—Death—Albina News.

Since issuing the first monthly report of the Holladay schools, district 49, it has been found necessary to finish another room and employ another teacher to relieve the pressure in some of the rooms. Miss Gowans is the new teacher employed and she has forty two in her room. The school is progressing nicely. The following is the report of the school for the past month, showing the attendance in each room

TAX LEVY

The ways and means committee met Wednesday night in the council chamber for the purpose of making the tax levy for the year and after careful computation as to the amount necessary to carry on the city government for the fiscal year, they made the levy 7½ mills and divided it up as follows: One-fourth of 1 per centum for a general fund, one fifth of 1 per centum for street repairing fund, one-tenth of 1 per centum for a fund for fire purposes and one fifth of 1 per centum for a fund to be applied in payment of the indebtedness of the city as represented by the bonds or notes of the city and the interest falling due thereon, or by judgment against the city.

This will produce $29,700 from the amount of taxable property reported by the assessor. The income from licenses and from other sources will aggregate about $9000 for the year and there is something over $8000 balances from last year. It may be safely estimated that the city's resources for the fiscal year will not be less than $46,700.

AT THE SCHOOLS

The High School Literary Society in the Central building will have literary exercises this afternoon which will doubtless prove very interesting. Literary exercises will also be had in the fifth grade in this building. Exercises are usually prepared every two weeks, and most of the rooms held theirs last Friday. During holidays an entertainment will be given to aid in paying for an organ Professor Robinson purchased some time ago. In the third grade there will be a spelling match and those remaining the longest in the contest will wear a badge indicating their victory. The schools are going ahead just as they always have been and without change of policy. The principals and teachers are straining every nerve to maintain the high standard of the schools, and parents need have no fear on that score.

THE MATTER INVESTIGATED

A member of the common council made an investigation of the row reported to have occurred in Freeman's saloon Sunday night, and the result seems to relieve the proprietor. It appears that some trouble arose between two men, who had been boarding in the East Side hotel, over their work. A door opens into the saloon, and the dispute happened in the saloon but the men were prevented from coming to blows by outside parties. Later in the night the dispute was renewed in the office and the men were again separated. One of the men dashed out of the hotel, pursued by the other. Both came together near the Harrington block, where a fight ensued. From this statement it appears the row did not take place in the saloon.

MINISTERIAL CONFERENCE.

The Adventist ministerial conference or institute, will commence its sessions this evening in the Adventist church on G between Eleventh and Twelfth. This organization is a school of instruction to the ministers of that denomination and will be attended by the noted lights in that denomination among whom may be mentioned Elder E J Wagner, editor of the Signs of the Times, Elder J N Loughborough and Elder N C McClure of California. There will also be representatives from all parts of the coast. Sessions will be held during the day and in the evening. It is quite an important event to the Adventist elders.

APPROACHING ELECTION

B W Russell, in Stephen's addition, has been named for chief engineer for the fire department by Grant Engine Company. His is the only name mentioned so far. The same rule that was adopted in the election last year will prevail in the coming election, which is that all members of the fire department not more than $2 in arrears vote.

LUNCH THIS EVENING.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will serve oysters, lunch and ice cream in the Odd Fellows' hall, corner of Fifth and I streets, on this, Friday evening, November 15, from 5 to 3 o'clock. Admission 25 cents, which entitles to oysters, or lunch, or ice cream.

A HORSE FOR THE CART

It is stated that Pioneer Engine Company will shortly put on foot a move to raise money to purchase a horse for the hose cart. This company raised the funds to buy the fine horses used to draw the engine.

PASSED AWAY

Henry A Bruce an old resident of East Portland, died at his residence in Stephens addition yesterday morning at 7 o'clock. He was 70 years of age, and leaves a wife and several children.

RETURNED FROM NEW YORK

The Rev. J W Sellwood, rector of St David's church has come back from New York, and will preach in that church Sunday, morning and evening.

NOTE

The finder will please return a child's muff lost on L street to F Logan's, Fifth street.

THE ALBINA CITY FATHERS

ADJOURNED MEETING HELD—ROUTINE BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

At an adjourned meeting of the Albina council, the following business was transacted.

Council called to order at usual hour by Mayor McLauchlin in the chair. The roll was called, and all members were present except Mr Craig.

THE VETO SUSTAINED.

A communication was read from the mayor vetoing the ordinance passed by this council October 30 1889, defining the duties and fixing the salary of the city treasurer. A vote being taken, the veto was sustained.

OTHER COMMUNICATIONS.

From E. A. Whitney, asking that the city issue warrants in the sum of $1000 on his contract for the improvement of Knott street, on motion it was accepted.

From Joseph Richardson notifying the council that he had completed the improvement of Morris street under his contract with the city, accepted and placed on file.

Mr Kraeft reported verbally that he had not yet secured the proposed loan for the city but could borrow the amount for six or nine days from Portland capitalists.

BILLS AND WARRANTS

The bills of J H Torgler of $4 and R C Gasman for $2 50 were referred to finance committee.

The claim of Olds & Summers for $77 05 was referred to police judge.

The claim of John Parker of $1 20 was allowed and warrant ordered drawn.

Four warrants of $200 each were ordered drawn in favor of E A Whitney, payable out of the fund to be assessed and collected for the improvement of Knott street under his contract.

Warrants were ordered drawn on the respective streets herein named in favor of M B Hart for balance due him on his contract for sidewalks: Corbett street fund $4 10, W[illegible] street fund $21 05, Goldsmith street fund, $44 45, Harding street fund, $10 05.

ORDINANCES

Authorizing and directing a contract with the Albina Water Company to supply water for fire hydrants and cisterns, read first and second time.

Accepting the improvement of Williams avenue from San Rafael street south to the East Portland line and making the assessment therefor, read third time and passed.

Accepting the improvement of San Antonio street from Williams avenue to Margarette avenue and making the assessment for the same, read third time and passed.

On motion the police judge was instructed to publish the necessary ten-day notice at their expense. The council then adjourned.

NOTES

After several weeks' visit Mrs Peter Knox has returned home.

Mrs Dr Coley arrived home last Monday from a prolonged visit East.

The Electric Railway Company have been busily engaged the last few days in completing the work of placing the wire overhead on Helm and Elliot streets. They expect to have the cars running on Williams avenue in a few days.

REASONS FOR PROSPERITY

The Remarkable Activity of Port Townsend Accounted For.

No small number of Portland people, as well as moneyed visitors from the interior and from the East, have inquired this week as to the basis of the remarkable real estate activity which has been manifest in Port Townsend during the past month. The reason is that it is definitely settled that a syndicate of railroad men in the interests of the Union Pacific railway will build a line from Portland to Port Townsend. On account of its incomparable harbor and its proximity to the Pacific ocean, Port Townsend will be the Puget sound terminus of the Union Pacific system. That company has already secured more than a square mile of level land adjacent to the city for terminal purposes including half a mile of water front, which joins the original townsite.

The sales of real estate since the middle of October have been over $500,000 of which about $200,000 worth were made to Portland investors. It is not remarkable that Portland people should seek investments in the key city of Puget sound because a friendly interest has been felt here for more than thirty five years. Frank W Pettygrove who founded Portland in 1845 was convinced that Port Townsend, owing to its natural situation and advantages, would become the great city of Puget sound just as he foresaw that Portland was to be the great city of Oregon. Pettygrove therefore sold out here in 1850 and with several other pioneers laid the foundations of Port Townsend. Unfortunately, he did not live to see his predictions verified but the younger generation and those who followed his lead are now reaping the benefits of his energy and business foresight. It is the universal opinion that no city on Puget sound has so bright a future as Port Townsend.

GATHERED FROM COURT RECORDS

The Ennerdale Libeled—Paid the Judgment—The Justice's Courts—Judge Tanner's Levee—Sentenced—Notes, Etc

The ship Ennerdale was arrested at Astoria yesterday by deputy United States Marshal H A Smith, in a cause of contract, civil and maritime. Kelly Dunne & Co., libellants whose claim amounts to $1,500. A hearing will be had before the United States district court on January 6th 1890.

In the case of the Nevada Bank of San Francisco vs. Chas E Smith, the defendant yesterday paid the full amount of judgment and costs without levy.

John Taraldson's wrath at the loss of his cow is yet unappeased. His warrant for Robert G Nordstrom is yet extant, but the latter, owing to press of other business, has not showed up at Justice Phelan's office. Should he come in, or should the constable find him, a day for trial will probably be set.

Geo W Watson who has been selling goods at auction in J B Miller's jewelry store, was fined $10 by Justice Tuttle yesterday morning for assault growing out of an altercation in the store with a customer, John M Lusbery, who made the complaints.

The proprietor of the "Red House" Robert Rieglman is under arrest for selling liquor to minors. Four warrants have been sworn out against him and he will be tried by Justice Tuttle this morning. It is alleged that Rieglman has been in the habit of selling liquors of all kinds to boys of tender years and the parents of the young hopefuls are bent upon bringing the offending saloon keeper to justice.

IN THE CRIMINAL COURT

The following defendants were brought before Judge Stearns yesterday

Charles McLaughlin pleaded not guilty to the crime of mayhem committed on the person of W G Long, and his trial was set down for December 13.

Sam Carter pleaded guilty to stealing a baby carriage from a dwelling, but pleaded drink in extenuation and he was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary.

George Smith and Jerry Hazlewood both colored, and John Berry, indicted for robbery, were given additional time till to-day to plead.

Thomas Young larceny of $5 from the person of W P Ragsdale, was allowed till to day to plead.

Thomas Moran and M Murphy both pleaded guilty to petty larceny, and were sentenced to six months in the county jail.

Ben Deering and William Russell, larceny in a dwelling had their trials set for the 19th and 20th inst., respectively. Russell will also be tried on a second indictment for larceny in a store.

J H Hoffman the ex real estate dealer indicted on two charges of obtaining money under false pretenses by means of fraudulent checks who was to have been tried yesterday withdrew his plea of not guilty and was sentenced to two years imprisonment in the penitentiary.

A case against W O Bradley of enticing Minnie Schroeder, a girl of 13 years, to lead a life of prostitution was dismissed for reason of insufficiency of evidence.

BROUGHT BEFORE JUDGE TANNER.

Duke Evans, the young ex convict was brought before Judge Tanner yesterday on the charge of stealing a ring. He entered a plea of not guilty, and the hearing of his case was continued until to-day.

Henry Gessford, a rather unsophisticated appearing young man, was arraigned on a charge of cutting open Mrs. A Mattingly's sacheting at the Musee Monday night and abstracting there from a pair of valuable opera glasses. He was arrested Wednesday by Detective Gitzmacher while attempting to sell them in a pawnbroker's shop.

The prisoner did not deny having been at the Musee on that night but alleged that a young man having been in his company on that occasion brought the glasses to him at his room in the Occidental hotel Tuesday morning asking him to sell them for him which he attempted to do when taken in custody.

The story narrated by the young man was considered rather "transparent" by the court and Gessford was held to await the action of the grand jury in the sum of $500.

John McDuff, a resident of Salem, charged with a crime against nature, had his hearing continued till to-morrow.

The following drunks were fined $5 each: John McAllister and Thomas Jones. Harry Lambert charged with vagrancy forfeited $10. James O Bil[illegible] fined $10 for fighting.

Joseph Prescott and N G Robinson arrested for distributing dodgers on the street, were discharged.

FIGHTING SAILORS

Gustaf Davidson was fined $1 yesterday by Justice Phelan for assault and battery. The charge was preferred by Charles Burn, a fellow sailor. Both are members of the Ben Nevis's crew.

Justice Tuttle tried an employe of the steamer Occident named Mermin yesterday afternoon for assaulting a fellow workman James Lee with a spike. The case was taken under advisement. Lee's part in the affair was such as to justify his subsequent arrest on a similar charge.

SENT UP FOR ONE YEAR.

Yesterday morning the motion for a new trial in the case of James Doyle convicted of conspiring to kidnap was argued but the motion was denied and the defendant sentenced to one year's confinement in the penitentiary. Doyle had at one time been peddling peanuts etc. in the Standard theater, and was regarded as a harmless sort of man.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT

F O Paulsen vs. Eben Curtis et al, set for trial on Thursday November 21.

The steamboat Wasco S D Fisher et al libellants exception to libels of intervention by H C Coe and E H Coe argued and submitted.

STATE CIRCUIT COURT NO. 2

Ida Morrill vs. Eli Merrill et al demurrer to the reply overruled. Case referred to J H Carey to take testimony and return the same with findings.

Ernest Kroner vs H K Hunsaker plaintiff allowed $16.

KEEP CLOSE

To the Metropolis of the Northwest

How we do want something that is away off as well illustrated by the way our people are buying lots out on the sand dunes—lots 25x100 feet for $800 each—while right here at home you can buy a lot seven times as large as your own for—$100 down and $10 a month without interest. Get yourself on the third Electric addition and you will see the nicest lots in Oregon. They are nearly half the size of a city block, slightly all cleared, level and near the end of the Thomson Houston Electric railway which is under contract to be completed before February 10, 1890. These lots will be sold to the highest bidder at auction on Saturday next at 2 o'clock P M at the rooms of the Real Estate Exchange, 128 First street. A cottage and lot worth $2,000 will be presented to the purchasers of the lots. Comfortable seats will be provided for the ladies.

Rheumatism and catarrh, caused by impoverished blood cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Don't miss it. The lunch at Freeman's annex to-day will be great. Corner First and Oak.

THE RAILWAY COMBINATION

The Contract Between the Union Pacific and Northwestern.

An Explanation of the Circumstances That Led to It—Important Details for Public Information

The Financial Chronicle of New York, the leading journal of its class in the country editorially speaks as follows about the contract lately made public between the Union Pacific and the Chicago & Northwestern:

Important progress is evidently making in clearing up and simplifying the Western railroad situation. And the work is being accomplished in precisely the way in which men of affairs and students of history have expected it would, not through trusts or large threatening consolidations but through a closer union of naturally allied interests, for mutual protection and mutual advantage.

A gigantic monopoly for gobbling up all the existing corporations would meet with little public favor, and for obvious reasons is both unwelcome and undesirable. But gradually and naturally the various lines and roads are being formed into large and special groups, the attaching of a road or system to this or that group being governed mainly by geographical considerations or the promptings of self interests. This preserves the individuality and identity of the various corporations while permitting the working together of roads naturally tributary to each other and having common and identical interests. The effect is to afford better service through the constitution of more perfect, more complete and more comprehensive systems while insuring greater harmony and less friction and allowing also of better results from operations than would otherwise be possible. Of the necessity and desirability of such action there can be no more doubt in view of the development of the last few years.

The contract made this week between the Union Pacific and the Northwest, by means of which these two important roads for traffic purposes are to be treated as a single system is evidence of this tendency and moreover is a step in the right direction. The action taken is the natural logical outcome of the situation in the West, and also of the position of the two contracting parties with reference to each and with reference to the rest of the railroads in the same section. Each had what the other wanted and needed, and hence nothing was simpler than to provide for a close union of the two in the way mentioned. According to the report in the Sun of this city, and which is pronounced by the officials of the Northwest as correct, the contract provides for the running of through passenger and freight trains from Chicago to the Pacific ocean over the lines of the two systems and is to run for 100 years from November 1 next. All through traffic from points on one system to points on the other is to be handled by the two as if but a single system, the Northwestern road going into market for business to all points in the Pacific Northwest the Union Pacific in turn within its territory taking traffic for all points on the Northwest system.

While the arrangement would hardly seem to have the significance given to it by the embellished accounts in some of the papers there can be no doubt that it will prove advantageous and that it was both desirable and needful. The Union Pacific has long felt the inconvenience of not having a line to Chicago. The Northwest on its part has labored under disadvantages in not having a line to Denver and the Pacific coast. Years ago the Union Pacific management sought to overcome the want in their case, the result being the celebrated tripartite alliance between the Union Pacific, the St. Paul and the Rock Island, and to which other lines were subsequently admitted. The immediate reason of that step was the building of the Burlington & Quincy extension to Denver, and which gave the Quincy a through road under its own control all the way from Chicago to that latter point. Not only the Union Pacific but all the Chicago Omaha lines were interested in making in the best way possible the connections thus inaugurated a different way of course, no better way than through an alliance. More than that, the Quincy had an extensive system of branch roads in Nebraska tributary to its Chicago line, and this business also the other competitors were desirous to share.

But if there were strong reasons then suggesting close working arrangements between the Union Pacific and some of the lines east from Omaha, the reasons now are very much stronger. Since then the Rock Island has built a system of branch and auxiliary roads in Nebraska and Kansas, so that it, like the Quincy, controls a line to Denver. The Missouri Pacific likewise now extends to that point. In addition, the Atchison system with its vast traffic contributing power has been extended east to Chicago. The Northwestern itself has constructed lines through Nebraska and into Wyoming territory, but as these do not connect with the roads to Denver or any of the systems to the Pacific, its opposition in that respect remained the same as previously. Hence the situation was that the Union Pacific and the Omaha as before while its chief rivals were operating lines to Chicago. The Northwest on its part had to contend with competitors extending much further west than itself. At the same time there were other movements of the same nature going on all tending further to isolate these two great systems. The Wisconsin Central has recently been made an integral part of the Northern Pacific system giving the latter direct lines to both Chicago and Duluth from all points in the Pacific Northwest. There have been intimations too that the Burlington & Quincy, the Canadian Pacific, the Manitoba and other roads were to be brought into very close relationship.

Under the circumstances the most rational as well as the most expedient thing for the Union Pacific and the Northwest was to unite their interests so far as that could be done without an actual consolidation. With roads managed as these two systems are there was, indeed, no alternative but this. Of course each might have built new lines into the other's territory but such a step would hardly be warranted or practicable in the existing status of Western railway affairs besides both the Union Pacific and the Northwest people would naturally be averse to introducing any further disturbing elements in the situation. We may say too that the arrangements between the two systems have been growing closer for some time. In fact the Northwest has been running through trains to Denver over the Union Pacific ever since last summer. The present arrangement, however, is much more comprehensive and covers not only the road to Denver but all the Union Pacific lines to the Pacific Coast. The Union Pacific will derive more benefits from this alliance than it could get from an alliance with almost any other system since the Northwest not only furnishes it an outlet to Chicago but by means of the Omaha road (which is a party to the contract) an outlet also to Lake Superior points, thus placing it on equality in that respect with the Northern Pacific. The contract has been under detailed consideration for over a week and care has evidently been taken to guard against conflicting with the provisions of law forbidding discrimination or pooling against any line. In fact it is stated that the contract is not an exclusive arrangement in the sense that either system will refuse to handle the business of the other's competitors. Possibly it is contemplated that other roads which by reason of their position might be tempted to make similar arrangements with the Union Pacific, should become parties to the contract. Of course the systems already having the necessary outlets would not care to join.

The union of interests between the Union Pacific and the Northwest comes in at a time when there are some other developments of moment affecting the Western railway situation. The Atchison plan of reorganization is definitely before the public. If that should go through the position of that important system of 7000 miles of road will be strengthened and the whole outlook correspondingly improved. In addition a scheme has this week been presented for the reorganization of the Missouri Kansas & Texas, another large system. We have no means of knowing whether the plan will meet with favor with the security holders. But at any rate the effort is to be commended and the fact that the time is considered opportune for making the effort is also significant.
